No Life Found In Samples Of Lunar Ground

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Early experiments indicate there is no life in the moon soil collected by the Apollo 11 astronauts.

There is, however, a remote possibility that more extensive study in the months ahead could turn up lunar organisms.

That's the conclusion of a group of scientists who Thursday issued the first comprehensive report on preliminary study of the 30 pound of rocks and dust.

Earlier piecemeal reports led to some speculation that lunar organic material had been discovered.

But the scientists said it is most likely the tiny amount of organic substance found in some rocks was of earthly origin—from the astronauts' space suits and the containers, rubber gloves and tools used to handle the materials.

A microscopic search for living, dead or fossil organisms has turned up nothing, reported Dr. James Menzies, an Agriculture Department biologist.

Dr. Richard Johnson of Ames Research Center said he has measured 10 parts per million of organic material in the moon dust, but said "this is so low it could quite easily be contamination" from handling.

Some lunar dust was mixed in solution and injected into 264 germ-free mice last week. Forty-eight of them have been killed and autopsies have shown no germs or illnesses.

The astronauts are scheduled to end their 21-day isolation late Sunday or early Monday if they remain healthy and nothing unusual is found in the rocks.

Beret Trial May Be Secret

SAIGON (AP) — Military sources hinted today that if the former Green Beret commander in Vietnam is brought to trial, at least part of the hearing may be behind closed doors because cloak-and-dagger secrets are involved.

These guarded hints from ranking officers at U.S. headquarters deepened the mystery around the murder and conspiracy charges against Col. Robert B. Rheault and seven subordinates, including three intelligence specialists.

Since the Army revealed the charges Wednesday, an absolute information blackout has enveloped the sensational case—the first such charges against an officer of Rheault's rank since the Uniform Code of Military Justice went into effect after World War II.

Far-out speculation was heightened by the extreme secrecy, the involvement of the elite counter-insurgency forces who specialize in clandestine warfare, and the refusal of American and South Vietnamese authorities to identify the victim apart from saying he was a Vietnamese man.

It appeared that the investigation to determine whether Rheault and his men would be brought to trial was being made by super-secret agencies. Normal military investigation agencies professed to have no knowledge of the case.

Hart Requests Lamprey Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Philip A. Hart (D-Mich.) today (Friday) urged the Senate Appropriations Subcommittee to add $200,000 to the administration's budget for fighting lamprey eels in the Great Lakes through the Great Lakes Fishery Commission, a U.S.-Canadian organization. The House has already approved a $200,000 budget increase.

The commission has requested $1.29 million from the United States, which supplies two-thirds of its funds. The administration has requested a total $1.06 million.

Heavy Viet Fighting Ends 2 Month Lull

SAIGON (AP) — The heaviest action in nearly two months was reported across South Vietnam Thursday. But U.S. military spokesmen said it was too early to tell whether it was only a brief break in the war lull or the prelude to renewal of major enemy operations.

More enemy and allied casualties were reported since midnight Wednesday than in any such period since June 18, when the current lull in major sustained ground fighting began.

Allied communiques reported a sharp increase in ground fighting just south of the demilitarized zone, in the coastal lowlands south of Da Nang, in the Central Highlands, and in War Zone D northeast of Saigon.

Along with this, the Viet Cong on Thursday made the biggest terror attack in Saigon since the lull began and a commando squad successfully invaded a U.S. convalescent hospital at Cam Ranh Bay. These two attacks accounted for 14 persons dead and 160 wounded, as well as heavy damages, according to revised casualty figures released by the U.S. Command.

Not Indicative

Allied military spokesmen reported at least 147 enemy soldiers killed in ground actions since midnight Wednesday. Allied losses were put at 14 Americans killed and 164 wounded, 17 South Vietnamese troops killed, 51 wounded and one missing, and 14 Vietnamese civilians killed and nine wounded.

But a spokesman for the U.S. Command said the sharp increase in ground fighting "is not necessarily an indication of increased enemy initiated activity."

"We are catching him on sweeps," the spokesman said. "We may be catching him before he gets ready to do something. Several of the actions were initiated by allied forces. I'd hate to characterize it as increased enemy-initiated activity. It's too early to be specific about the significance."

Other U.S. officers said they see no indication that North Vietnamese troops are massing along the demilitarized zone for a large-scale attack, despite the heaviest fighting there in more than two months.

Four Regiments

The Marine officers declined to estimate the strength of the North Vietnamese army below the DMZ, but they said it is not substantial. They said intelligence indicates that four North Vietnamese regiments—a maximum of 12,000 men—are in the northern half of the DMZ or just to the north of the zone in North Vietnam. This is a night's march away from South Vietnam's northern frontier.

Elsewhere: Enemy troops shot down two American observation helicopters 47 miles southeast of Da Nang, and paratroopers from the U.S. 101st Airborne Division were rushed in to rescue the crews. This touched off a heavy exchange of machine-gun and rifle fire in which at least one enemy soldier and one American were killed and 11 Americans were wounded. Three of the helicopter crewmen also were wounded.

In Saigon, eight women and 16 men went on trial before a military court on charges connected with attempts to assassinate Premier Tran Van Huong and

Maj. Gen. Nguyen Van Kiem, the chief of the presidential military staff.

The charges ranged from attempted murder aimed at undermining national security to failure to report an assassination attempt to authorities. Three of the men could get the death sentence if convicted.

The attempt on Huong was made March 5 when a terrorist team tried to explode a Claymore mine near the premier's car. The mine did not go off.

A terrorist hurled an explosive charge at Kiem's car on Feb. 1. The general suffered a broken leg and four of his security men were injured. The government charged that both attacks were part of a Communist plot to eliminate government leaders.

Man Lived Three Years In Manhole

TORONTO (AP) — The manhole Svetomir Kusmanovich lived in for three years wasn't a castle but it was warm and cheap and not even the bugs bothered him.

"The bugs weren't nice, but they didn't really bother me when I was asleep—at least I didn't feel them around me," he said Thursday. "Nothing really bothered me."

He was removed from the 6½-by-5-foot manhole Wednesday and charged with vagrancy. The charge was dropped after a Salvation Army officer said the 55-year-old Kusmanovich would be housed in a hostel.

Kusmanovich slept on a wooden bed across steam pipes which warmed the manhole in winter but drove the temperature to 120 degrees in summer. He had a cupboard for the two bottles of wine, four loaves of stale bread and stale grease he bought weekly.

Kusmanovich said he was born in Yugoslavia in 1914 but left in 1932 when the Communists took away his last coat. His wife and two sons, Rada, 30, and Rados, 31, still are there, but "I'll probably never see my family again."

"They don't know how I live. I'd never tell them. I'd like to go back now and I've shamed myself and my people."

Life wasn't always as tough for Svetomir Kusmanovich. "I used to have a good job but I had to leave when my nerves gave out. They're fine now but I'm 55 and I can't find a good job."

His last job was picking tobacco last summer when he earned $200—enough for the year. He said he lived on $2 a week, ate in welfare missions and bought second-hand clothes.

"Twice a week I paid 15 cents for a public bath and washed the clothes while I had a shower. I like to keep clean."

"I lived like a dog, but it was better than begging and I'm a very proud man."

News In Brief

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. troop strength in Vietnam, in spite of the announced withdrawal of 25,000 men, continues to rise and now stands at 4,500 more than when President Nixon took office, say war critics. Sens. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., and Albert Gore, D-Tenn.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senators seeking stricter control over Pentagon spending after losing three votes on the Safe-guard issue, are elated by the passage of an amendment calling for a close audit of major defense contracts.

The Arab guerrilla command claimed today that several hundred of its commandos made a three-hour raid during the night on three Israeli settlements and three military outposts in the Northern Jordan Valley.

Search On For Marquette Man

ROCK HARBOR (AP) — An air, land and water search continued today for a seasonal employee at the Isle Royal National Park, who has been missing since Wednesday after he attempted to rescue a distressed swimmer.

Northern Michigan University student, Dennis A. Long, 20, of Marquette, is listed as missing, although fears are mounting that he drowned.

Park officials said he may have drowned Wednesday evening when he attempted to rescue a girl who had ventured into deep water while swimming. Long apparently responded to screams for help and began swimming toward the girl, who managed to save herself. A short time later, it was noticed that Long was missing.

The search for the student resumed at daybreak today, following a daylong search Thursday using aircraft, patrolboats and shore teams.

Tax Reform Bill Gets Big Boost By House

Oil Industries Could Pay $500 Million Extra

HOUSTON (AP) — The tax reform package approved Thursday by the House of Representatives would boost the petroleum industry's tax bill some $500 million to $600 million a year.

Most of the increase would result from the industry's controversial depletion tax allowance being reduced from 27½ per cent to 20 per cent.

The industry hopes to obtain relief as the tax package moves to the Senate but it knows it will face a tough fight there also. Some senators want to cut the allowance to 15 per cent.

The current situation indicates that the industry's brightest hope may be for the Senate to stand by 27½ per cent, as it has in the past, and then compromise with the House at about 23½ per cent.

President Nixon has endorsed the old depletion allowance but has given no indication he will become involved in the current dispute.

Whipping Boy

Oilmen contend the depletion allowance is being used as a whipping boy and as a symbol for tax reform. Many blame the situation on a lack of knowledge or understanding of a complicated tax provision that has remained unchanged since Congress enacted it 43 years ago.

They contend the industry is paying its fair share of taxes. Petroleum economists argue that the industry spends 5.4 per cent of its gross revenue on direct taxes, compared to 4.6 per cent for all other business corporations.

They say that when excise and sales taxes are added to direct taxes the industry pays out 20.8 per cent of gross revenues, compared to 6.6 per cent for all other business corporations.

Many oilmen believe a cut in the depletion allowance eventually will affect the consumer in the form of higher prices for petroleum products. Some fear resulting curtailment of already lagging oil field explorations will lead to shortages.

Shortage

M.A. Wright, board chairman of Humble Oil & Refining Co., said a natural gas shortage is imminent and crude oil production capacity is diminishing.

The allowance works this way: A producer reports a gross income of $10,000 from a lease that cost him $3,500 to operate. His deductions would total $6,250—$3,500 in expenses and a depletion allowance of $2,750 or 27½ per cent of $10,000. His taxable income would be $3,750.

Operating costs of $5,000 instead of $3,500 would have reduced the depletion allowance to $2,500 in that it cannot exceed 50 per cent of net income.

The 27½ per cent figure is a result of long congressional study and debate after the first income tax law in 1913 recognized a difference between capital and income. Producers of minerals and metals—not just oilmen—were granted an allowance for capital decline caused by production.

It took Congress 13 years to develop the oil and gas formula that the House bill would change.

Nixon Proposing Welfare Changes

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon in his speech to the nation tonight is expected to propose a replacement of the U.S. welfare system, including a guaranteed income and incentives to get people off welfare and into jobs.

The President also reportedly will announce a shift in the federal antipoverty program from community action to developing new job opportunities.

The address, to be carried by radio and television, is scheduled for 10 p.m. EDT.

Executive branch and Capitol Hill sources say the President will ask Congress to:

—Guarantee an income of $1,500 a year to the average family of four. This would pioneer payments to wage earners who make below subsistence salaries.

—Give states an automatic share of federal tax revenues, about $1 billion the first year.

—Impose a federally-financed minimum of about $30 a month

Job Training

—Take Washington out of job training. The 30-odd counseling, recruitment and training programs would be consolidated and funded by block grants.

—Give states an automatic share of federal tax revenues, about $1 billion the first year.

TV Coverage

NEW BEDFORD, Mass. (AP)

DIST. ATTY. Edmund Dinis says Sen. Edward M. Kennedy will be called as a witness in an inquest into his July 18 auto accident which caused the death of a girl passenger.

The senator has said he would cooperate in any legal proceedings connected with the accident, and has canceled a European trip in order to keep himself available.

Dinis said Thursday he hopes to begin the inquest within a week or 10 days. He added that he would call 20 or more witnesses, including all persons who might have had any knowledge of events before or after Kennedy's car plunged off a bridge on Chappaquiddick Island, drowning Miss Mary Jo Kopechne, 28, a Washington secretary.

District Court attaches doubt that the inquest could be held as quickly as Dinis wants and suggested that it was unlikely to be opened until some time after Labor Day.

The President will leave Saturday for a month-long working stay at his new home in San Clemente, Calif.

Passed 394-30; Senate To Give It Careful Look

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House gave its huge tax reform and relief bill a big send-off by passing the measure 394-30, but the legislation was destined for a cautious reception in the Senate.

The Senate Finance Committee will give the bill a careful going over and plans to hear more than 100 witnesses, largely speaking for interests which face higher taxes if it becomes law.

These hearings won't start until after Congress returns Sept. 3 from its summer recess, and the committee work may run almost two months.

Chairman Russell B. Long, D-La., has promised to try to complete committee action by Oct. 31.

Most Thorough

The bill passed Thursday by the House was the most thorough tax code revision in a generation.

It tightens the law in 27 different areas to produce ultimately $6.8 billion in additional revenue and would provide eventual tax relief calculated at $9.2 billion for all but the highest income brackets.

By 1972, the bill's sponsors say, a family of four making $3,500 and taxed $70 would pay no tax; one receiving $7,500 would pay about $110 less than at present.

The greatest proportionate savings would be at the low end of the income scale and for widows, widowers and single persons 35 and older.

The revenue-increasing provisions include repeal of the 7 per cent investment credit, trimming the oil depletion allowance from 27½ per cent to 20 per cent, reduction of other tax advantages for the petroleum industry, and abolition of the fast-track method of real estate depreciation except for residential buildings.

Oil States

Most of the 30 adverse votes in the House were from oil and other mineral producing states.

Predictions were that the reforms might be cut back sharply in the Senate committee. Long has promised to try to keep the full 27½ per cent depreciation allowance.

But any reforms deleted in committee could be restored on the Senate floor—especially since the Democratic leadership is on record for them—or later in the conference with the House.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the Ways and Means Committee, the principal House architect of the measure, spoke optimistically to newsmen after the House vote.

"They'll try to add things to the bill, but usually substantive changes made in House tax bills don't stand up."

Privately, however, House leaders were expressing concern that if the Senate prolongs consideration too long, opponents of the tax changes might build up enough strength to strip the bill.

Soviets Launch Lunar Spaceship

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union has launched another unmanned spaceship, Zond 7, to photograph the moon and test improved systems incorporated in rocket-space equipment, the official news agency Tass announced today.

Tass said Zond 7 was first put into orbit around the earth and then set on a course toward the moon. The trip normally takes 3½ days.

The announcement said stable communications was being maintained and all systems on board were functioning normally.

Tass said Zond 7 was launched "with the aim of further studying the moon and near-lunar space, photographing the moon, and trying out improved on-board systems and the design of the rocket-space complex." Tass did not elaborate.

Collins' Lawyer Decides To Stay

YSPILANTI (AP) — A young Ann Arbor lawyer and his partner have resumed preparations for defending an Eastern Michigan University student charged with murdering one of his schoolmates.

Robert Francis, who accompanied John Norman Collins, 22, when he was arrested July 31, withdrew for a few hours Thursday along with his partner John M. Toomey.

The lawyers asked the Washtenaw County Circuit Court to appoint a new lawyer for Collins, saying the defendant couldn't afford to pay for proper legal defense.

Two other motions presumably will be considered next Thursday at the examination. The attorneys had also asked for permission to inspect the

Oil Industries Could Pay $500 Million Extra

HOUSTON (AP) — The tax reform package approved Thursday by the House of Representatives would boost the petroleum industry's tax bill some $500 million to $600 million a year.

Most of the increase would result from the industry's controversial depletion tax allowance being reduced from 27½ per cent to 20 per cent.

The industry hopes to obtain relief as the tax package moves to the Senate but it knows it will face a tough fight there also. Some senators want to cut the allowance to 15 per cent.

The current situation indicates that the industry's brightest hope may be for the Senate to stand by 27½ per cent, as it has in the past, and then compromise with the House at about 23½ per cent.

President Nixon has endorsed the old depletion allowance but has given no indication he will become involved in the current dispute.

Whipping Boy

Oilmen contend the depletion allowance is being used as a whipping boy and as a symbol for tax reform. Many blame the situation on a lack of knowledge or understanding of a complicated tax provision that has remained unchanged since Congress enacted it 43 years ago.

They contend the industry is paying its fair share of taxes. Petroleum economists argue that the industry spends 5.4 per cent of its gross revenue on direct taxes, compared to 4.6 per cent for all other business corporations.

They say that when excise and sales taxes are added to direct taxes the industry pays out 20.8 per cent of gross revenues, compared to 6.6 per cent for all other business corporations.

Many oilmen believe a cut in the depletion allowance eventually will affect the consumer in the form of higher prices for petroleum products. Some fear resulting curtailment of already lagging oil field explorations will lead to shortages.

Shortage

M.A. Wright, board chairman of Humble Oil & Refining Co., said a natural gas shortage is imminent and crude oil production capacity is diminishing. The allowance works this way:

A producer reports a gross income of $10,000 from a lease that cost him $3,500 to operate. His deductions would total $6,250-$3,500 in expenses and a depletion allowance of $2,750 or 27½ per cent of $10,000. His taxable income would be $3,750.

Operating costs of $5,000 instead of $3,500 would have reduced the depletion allowance to $2,500 in that it cannot exceed 50 per cent of net income.

The 27½ per cent figure is a result of long congressional study and debate after the first income tax law in 1913 recognized a difference between capital and income. Producers of minerals and metals—not just oilmen—were granted an allowance for capital decline caused by production.

It took Congress 13 years to develop the oil and gas formula that the House bill would change.

Nixon Proposing Welfare Changes

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon in his speech to the nation tonight is expected to propose a replacement of the U.S. welfare system, including a guaranteed income and incentives to get people off welfare and into jobs.

The President also reportedly will announce a shift in the federal antipoverty program from community action to developing new job opportunities.

The address, to be carried by radio and television, is scheduled for 10 p.m. EDT.

Executive branch and Capitol Hill sources say the President will ask Congress to:

—Guarantee an income of $1,500 a year to the average family of four. This would pioneer payments to wage earners who make below subsistence salaries.

—Take Washington out of job training. The 30-odd counseling, recruitment and training programs would be consolidated and funded by block grants.

—Give states an automatic share of federal tax revenues, about $1 billion the first year.

TV Coverage

NEW YORK (AP) — The three major television networks will provide live coverage tonight of President Nixon's address to the nation on domestic programs. Coverage will begin at 10 p.m. EDT.

DIST. ATTY. Edmund Dinis talked with newsmen Monday in Boston and said he will hold an inquest into Sen. Edward Kennedy's July 18 auto accident despite a judge's request for additional information. Kennedy To Be Inquest Witness

NEW BEDFORD, Mass. (AP) — Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinis says Sen. Edward M. Kennedy will be called as a witness in an inquest into his July 18 auto accident which caused the death of a girl passenger.

The senator has said he would cooperate in any legal proceedings connected with the accident, and has canceled a European trip in order to keep himself available.

Dinis said Thursday he hopes to begin the inquest within a week or 10 days. He added that he would call 20 or more witnesses, including all persons who might have had any knowledge of events before or after Kennedy's car plunged off a bridge on Chappaquiddick Island, drowning Miss Mary Jo Kopechne, 28, a Washington secretary.

District Court attaches doubt that the inquest could be held as quickly as Dinis wants and suggested that it was unlikely to be opened until some time after Labor Day.

The President will leave Saturday for a month-long working stay at his new home in San Clemente, Calif.

Passed 394-30; Senate To Give It Careful Look

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House gave its huge tax reform and relief bill a big send-off by passing the measure 394-30, but the legislation was destined for a cautious reception in the Senate.

The Senate Finance Committee will give the bill a careful going over and plans to hear more than 100 witnesses, largely speaking for interests which face higher taxes if it becomes law.

These hearings won't start until after Congress returns Sept. 3 from its summer recess, and the committee work may run almost two months.

Chairman Russell B. Long, D-La., has promised to try to complete committee action by Oct. 31.

Most Thorough

The bill passed Thursday by the House was the most thorough tax code revision in a generation.

It tightens the law in 27 different areas to produce ultimately $6.8 billion in additional revenue and would provide eventual tax relief calculated at $9.2 billion for all but the highest income brackets.

By 1972, the bill's sponsors say, a family of four making $3,500 and taxed $70 would pay no tax; one receiving $7,500 would pay about $110 less than at present.

The greatest proportionate savings would be at the low end of the income scale and for widows, widowers and single persons 35 and older.

The revenue-increasing provisions include repeal of the 7 per cent investment credit, trimming the oil depletion allowance from 27½ per cent to 20 per cent, reduction of other tax advantages for the petroleum industry, and abolition of the fast-track method of real estate depreciation except for residential building.

Oil States

Most of the 30 adverse votes in the House were from oil and other mineral producing states.

Predictions were that the reforms might be cut back sharply in the Senate committee. Long has promised to try to keep the full 27½ per cent depreciation allowance.

But any reforms deleted in committee could be restored on the Senate floor—especially since the Democratic leadership is on record for them—or later in the conference with the House.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the Ways and Means Committee, the principal House architect of the measure, spoke optimistically to newsmen after the House vote.

"They'll try to add things to the bill, but usually substantive changes made in House tax bills don't stand up."

Privately, however, House leaders were expressing concern that if the Senate prolongs consideration too long, opponents of the tax changes might build up enough strength to strip the bill.

Soviets Launch Lunar Spaceship

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union has launched another unmanned spaceship, Zond 7, to photograph the moon and test improved systems incorporated in rocket-space equipment, the official news agency Tass announced today.

Tass said Zond 7 was first put into orbit around the earth and then set on a course toward the moon. The trip normally takes 3½ days.

The announcement said stable communications was being maintained and all systems on board were functioning normally.

Council Splits 3-2:

But Okays Traffic Study, Zone Change

A zoning change to permit establishment of a commercial enterprise and the employment of a consultant to advise on a preliminary traffic study were approved by the Escanaba City Council Thursday night.

The actions were accompanied by considerable debate and carried by a split vote of 3 to 2, with Mayor Cecil B. Chase casting the deciding affirmative vote in both instances.

Voting yes were Mayor Chase, Councilmen Robert Bink and Richard Pryal; and no votes were cast by Councilman Edward J. Cox and Miles Dupue.

The change from Residence A to Commercial zoning is at Washington Ave. and 14th Ave. N. where Clarence Sundquist is proposing to construct a self-service laundry. The change in zoning was recommended by the Planning Commission and the public hearing was held last night when the Council met at the Civic Center.

Cox and Dupue opposed the change because, they said, there were residents in the area whose homes had been built there with the understanding the Class A residential zoning would be unchanged. There were no persons appearing at the hearing either to speak for or against the amendment.

The Council later unaniland, in charge of the traffic engineering course at U. of M., who tentatively will be here on Friday, Aug. 22, said City Manager George Harvey.

Police Chief Richard Frederick, who talked with Cleveland, advised that the consultant would after his visit be in a position to "estimate the amount of professional help that it would take to achieve our goal."

Councilman Cox said he is opposed to the study because it will "cost a lot of money" and that "a lot of surveys are not worth the paper they're written on."

Cox said he could go along with the services of a consultant "but not for a survey costing $15,000 or $20,000." He said he saw no reason why Escanaba officials couldn't work out a solution to the traffic problems of the community except that "they're afraid to hurt somebody" who may have a business place on a corner.

Mayor Chase, who cast the deciding vote to bring Prof. Cleveland here, said he believes the expense for the consultant is not "too big" and that "if we are going to move ahead we must do something."

In other business the Council authorized the city manager to proceed in a request to the Department of Natural Resources to have the city obtain title to 15 acres in the Willow Creek area at the city's west side.

A resolution of cooperation between the City Police and other law enforcement agencies was adopted; the low bid of $2,564 of Graybar Electric for street lighting equipment was accepted; and a lease with Gallagher Marine was extended for one month at cost of $25 to Gallagher.

The city manager was authorized to purchase from ITE Imperial Corp. equipment for the city electric plant to cost $1,157; the refunding of $1,036 to the Michigan Aeronautics Commission for airport work was approved; and Mayor Chase was named delegate and Mayor Pro Tem Bink alternate to the Michigan Municipal League meeting to be held at Grand Rapids Sept. 9.

The city manager was authorized to spend not to exceed $15,000 from the city equipment fund to purchase a snowblower from the Detroit airport, to be used at the airport here. The equipment must first be inspected and approved by Public Works Superintendent Ken Tushak.

Comfort Station

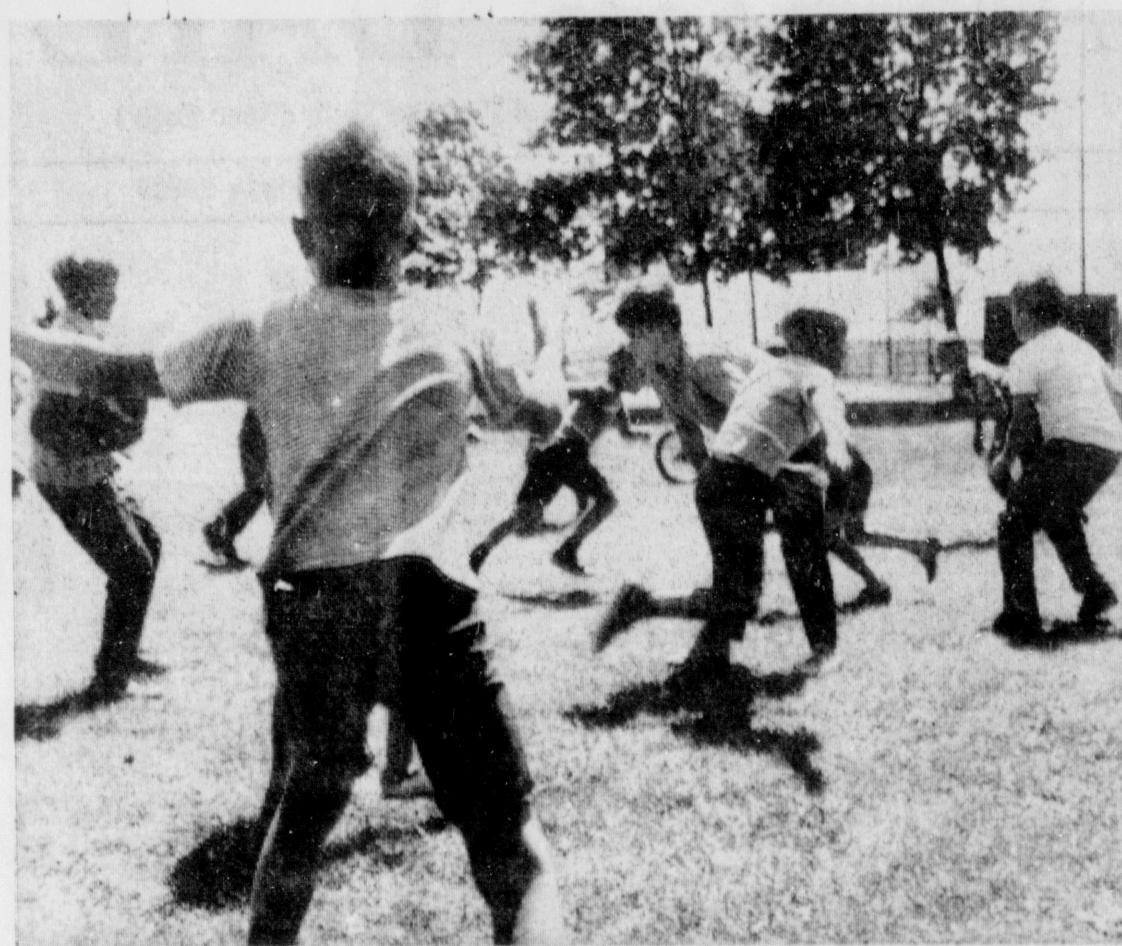

Formal acceptance and an expression of appreciation were contained in a resolution the City Council addressed to the Standard Oil Co. Thursday night for the company's gift of a former gas station at Ludington and 11th St.

Renovation of the structure into a comfort station and its maintenance will be the responsibility of a Downtown Development Association, the Council was advised by the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce.

Walter Lewke, Chamber manager, and Robert Mosenfelder of the Development Association, told the Council of plans for the facility, and Mosenfelder described the project as "a first step in downtown development, with continuing studies and planning for improvement."

mously approved Sundquist's request to break the street curb at the site of the proposed business establishment.

The traffic study of the city, long discussed and slow in moving toward reality, appeared to be set in motion by the Council's decision to bring a University of Michigan consultant here on an expense basis at a cost of about $100. He is Prof. Donald E. Cleve-

State Panel To Meet Here

Visits to an Upper Peninsula prison, state mental hospital, and three other state installations are planned by the Michigan Civil Service Commission in connection with its August meetings scheduled in Escanaba next Thursday.

The four-member Commission, which regulates conditions of employment for the State's 44,000 classified employees, will hold its monthly business session at 2 p. m. Thursday in the State Office Building at Escanaba.

The Commission plans a visit Wednesday afternoon to the Newberry State Hospital of the Department of Mental Health and Friday will visit the Marquette State Prison, District Headquarters of the Michigan State Police, and the Regional Office of the Department of Natural Resources in Marquette.

The state classified service is the fifth largest work force in Michigan, ranking behind General Motors, Chrysler, Ford, and the Federal Government. Over 2,000 classified employees reside and work in the Upper Peninsula.

The four-member Commission exercises broad legislative, administrative, and quasi-judicial responsibility spelled out in a self-executing provision in the State Constitution.

The Commissioners, who serve without pay, are selected from citizens who have achieved personal success in private life. They serve eight-year, overlapping terms and no more than two members can be from any one political party. Commission members are: Chairman David Pollack, Detroit; Ernest L. Brown Jr., Detroit; Ruth M. Robertson of Franklin; and Richard L. Milliman of Lansing.

Purdue Appoints Escanaba Native To New Position

LaFAYETTE, Ind.—Dr. Fred R. McFadden, a native of Escanaba, has been named chairman of the newly-developed department of quantitative methods at Purdue University.

The department, which involves the application of mathematics and statistics to decision problems in business and industry, has been created to answer a growing need for this training, the university announced.

McFadden 36, joined the Santa Clara facility in 1966 after working as an operations analyst at the Stanford Research Institute while working on his doctor's degree at Stanford University, Palo Alto, Calif. He was awarded his PhD in industrial engineering in 1968. He earned his bachelor's degree at Michigan State and masters at UCLA.

He and his wife and their three children reside in Lafayette.

On July 18, 1938, Douglas (Wrong Way) Corrigan arrived in Dublin, Ireland, 28 hours 13 minutes after leaving New York in a nine-year-old Curtiss Robin.

Headstart Ends At Hermansville

The Hermansville Headstart Program, which operated for six weeks and included 19 pre-kindergarten children from the Hermansville area, is over.

The program was coordinated by the Menominee-Delta-Schoolcraft Community Action Agency. Mrs. Barbara Bedard, Headstart teacher, was assisted by Mrs. Steve Pipkorn and Alane St. Juliana, who functioned as teacher aides for the program.

Children participated in eating activities, group play, crafts, field trips, cutting, printing, colors, and numbers.

War Prisoners Glad To Be Back

NEW YORK (AP) — Three American servicemen released from North Vietnamese prison camps have returned home—pale and thin but with wide smiles that conveyed their emotions better than words.

Lt. Robert Frishman, a Navy pilot who acted as spokesman for the three, and Navy Seaman Douglas Hegdahl were both beaming during a brief news conference after their arrival Thursday at Kennedy Airport.

The third American, Air Force Capt. Wesley Rumble, 23, of Oroville, Calif., was too ill to talk to newsmen and was escorted down the plane steps and helped into a car.

The three were accompanied by seven American war protesters who had brought them from Hanoi.

Frishman, 28, of Santee, Calif., told newsmen that his health was "pretty good" although he had lost 45 pounds since he was shot down near Hanoi Oct. 24, 1967.

Look Like Hell

"I took a look at myself in a long mirror the other day and I feel I look like hell," he said.

Frishman said his right arm had been "seriously wounded" and North Vietnamese doctors removed the elbow and fused the bones. He said the skin took six months to heal.

Hegdahl, 22, of Watertown, S.D., said only, "I am very glad to be back in the United States. I feel great." He was captured after falling overboard from the cruiser USS Canberra April 6, 1967.

Frishman refused to answer questions about the welfare of other prisoners in North Vietnam, apparently fearful of jeopardizing their possible release.

After the news conference three boarded a government plane for Washington. A spokesman said Frishman and Hegdahl would be taken to Bethesda Naval Hospital while Rumble was hospitalized at Andrews Air Force Base in Maryland.

In Uniform

Rumble was said to be suffering from a back injury when he ejected from his Phantom jet over North Vietnam April 28, 1968.

All three were in uniform they had requested during stopover in Germany after their release Tuesday. In a separate news conference later, Renard C. "Ren" Davis, who led the peace delegation that accompanied the prisoners complained of interference from U.S. Customs officials at Kennedy Airport, said they kept the seven delegation members away from a press conference and threatened to confiscate an unprocessed film shot by a delegation in North Vietnam. The film was placed in bond the time being.

DNR, Fishermen, To Meet In Marquette

LANSING — New eligibility standards for licensing Michigan's commercial fishermen in 1970 are scheduled to receive final action by the Natural Resources Commission when it meets August 14-15 at Marquette.

The DNR says that licensing requirements are basically tailored to trim the state's fleet of commercial fishermen in a move to better balance their harvests with Great Lakes fish populations. DNR officials plan to narrow the field of commercial fishermen to the most active operators.

Measures designed along those lines were tentatively approved by the Natural Resources Commission in June and have since gone through a series of reviews, including public hearings July 15 at Marquette, Traverse City, and Saginaw.

Some Changes
As a result of views expressed by commercial fishermen at those hearings, the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) has made some changes in its original recommendations for licensing the industry's operators.

Among these adjustments is one which would scale the minimum number of past fishing days required of commercial operators according to the type of gear used. Earlier, the DNR had proposed that applicants for 1970 licenses would have to show that they logged 50 or more days of commercial operations during at least two of the three years from 1967 through 1969.

As now amended for that same period, the minimum number of fishing days stands at 10 for those who have operated with seines or trawls and at 25 for commercial fishermen who have used pound or trap nets. Operators who have fished with gill nets, hooks or trot lines, or a combination of other gear already covered must meet the 50-day minimum.

Commercial Out
In addition to qualifying under this more flexible fishing days requirement, fishermen seeking licenses for 1970 must be among those licensed this year. In other words, no new commercial fishermen will be licensed in 1970.

Another new rule coming up for action next week would limit next year's licenses to operators who submit all of their required 1969 commercial fishing reports to the DNR. On a final recommended clearing point, applicants for 1970 licenses would have to have their nets, boats, and other equipment pass the DNR's inspection.

Commercial fishermen licensed in 1970 will be eligible for licenses in following years as long as they continue to meet all of these requirements.

According to the DNR, the screening system refined for all other license-seeking operators is an outgrowth of the best combined thinking of the DNR's Fish Division staff and members of the Great Lakes Fishery Advisory Committee appointed early this year by Governor Milliken.

Licensing Standards
The set of licensing standards is the first to be worked up since the DNR was authorized under Act 336 of 1968 to establish a limited entry system for the state's commercial fishery. Under that same Act, the DNR was given the green light to closely control the industry's harvests as another means of protecting fishery resources of Michigan's Great Lakes waters.

Under this streamlined management approach, the DNR will close some areas of the Great Lakes to commercial fishing in 1970 and place certain netting restrictions on operators who are licensed for next year.

Harvest quotas and catch fees will not be set, except possibly under very special circumstances, until at least one year of experience has been gained under the opening phase of the limited entry system.

Farm Tour Attracts Over 250 Visitors

CHATHAM—Comments that will have a direct bearing on the agricultural and resource development of the Upper Peninsula were heard by more than 250 visitors attending the 10th annual U.P. Farm Management Tour.

One of these came from Richard Bell, assistant director of Michigan State University's Cooperative Extension Service.

He said the proposed Northern Beef Enterprise Demonstration Center will be established this fall on the upper farm of the U.P. Experiment Station at Chatham.

He said the center would provide practical demonstrations of cow-calf production and would serve interested beef cattlemen in Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota.

Beef Production Gains
The production of beef brood cows in the U.P. has increased eight-fold since 1949, he noted, even though the number of farms has been declining at the rate of one per day. At the same time, per capita beef consumption in the U.S. is increasing steadily.

Sixty-five cows will be brought to the center this fall for experimentation and demonstration of production on forage suited to growing in the area. Bell said the herd will eventually total 200, and short-courses and other demonstrations will be held on a regular basis.

Other commentary critical to the U.P.'s future came from the two farmers featured on the tour and the specialists who presented reports on late developments in farm and natural resources management.

Careful Breeding
Lawrence Obenauf, who operates a 200 acre dairy and corn operation south of Chatham reported on adjustments he had to make in his farm to increase his herd production from 12,746 pounds per cow in 1967 to 14,458 in 1968.

He follows a careful cow breeding program, keeps thorough farm records on milk and crop production, and has expanded his building and storage facilities whenever the situation warranted it.

Obenauf has built two silos, added a 40-foot addition to his

Linsmeier Suspended

The United States Department of Agriculture announced today that Charles Linsmeier, operator of the Linsmeier Livestock Auction, Menominee, has been suspended as a registered market agency for violating trust account, financial and record-keeping requirements under the Packers and Stockyards Act.

Linsmeier, who neither admitted nor denied the charges brought against him, consented to the order telling him that he could not operate as a livestock agency for 30 days, starting Aug. 6, 1969.

Water Areas For Swimming

On the basis of water samples collected at Delta and Menominee beaches in the past week, the following beaches and swimming areas are considered safe for swimming: Escanaba Beach, Gladstone Beach, Nahma Beach, Twinsprings Beach, Whitefish River, Soo Hill Quarry, Escanaba Dam No. 3, Ford River, Cedar River and Hermansville Lake.

This list is compiled weekly by the Delta-Menominee Health Department. The Department recommends that swimming activities be carried out only at the above authorized locations where lifeguards and rescue equipment are provided.

Groundbreaking For Kresge Hall Set For Saturday

Groundbreaking ceremony for the start of construction of Kresge Hall on Summer Island, financed by a gift of $60,000 to Summer Science Camp from the Kresge Foundation, will be held Saturday afternoon.

Dan Stevens, Summer Science Inc., president, said Summer Science Camp students will be in charge of the ceremony that will be held at 3 p.m.

Members of Summer Science board of trustees, representatives of Michigan Technological University and other educational institutions, will be present for the event. The building will serve as a study, seminar and dining hall and will be completed next year.

Services Set Saturday For Mrs. A. Plant

Funeral arrangements for Mrs. Augusta Plant of Stirling Hts., Mich., have been completed as follows: friends may call at the Allo Funeral Home from 3 to 9:30 p. m. today and parish prayers will be recited at 8 p. m. today.

Funeral services will be conducted at 9 a. m. Saturday at St. Joseph's Church with the Rev. Fabian Gerstle officiating and burial will be in Holy Cross Cemetery.

Mrs. Plant was a member of St. Joseph's Church and the St. Joseph Altar Society. Survivors include a son, Archie of Stirling Heights and four grandchildren. Her husband Archie preceded her in death in 1925.

QUESTION: What are the odors of a kraft sulphate mill?

ANSWER:
According to an article in the New York Times, an engineer for the International Paper Company at Ticonderoga, New York, says the smell comes from sulphur compounds released in cooking the wood pulp. He says the smell is similar to that from skunks, rotten eggs and rotten cabbage and that even minute amounts of the substance released into the air are detectable.

DNR says that licensing ements are basically d to trim the state's fleet mmercial fishermen in a to better balance their sts with Great Lakes fishations. DNR officials plan row the field of commer-ishermen to the most acceptors.

ures designed along those were tentatively approved e Natural Resources Comon in June and have since through a series of reincluding public hearings 15 at Marquette, Traverse and Saginaw.

Some Changes
a result of views express-commercial fishermen at hearings, the Department atural Resources (DNR) made some changes in its al recommendations for sing the industry's opera-ong these adjustments is hich would scale the mini-number of past fishing required of commercial tors according to the type ar used. Earlier, the DNR proposed that applicants 970 licenses would have to that they logged 50 or days of commercial opera-during at least two of the years from 1967 through now amended for that period, the minimum ber of fishing days stands for those who have oper-with seines or trawls and for commercial fishermen have used pound or trap Operators who have fish-with gill nets, hooks or trot-or a combination of other already covered must meet 50-day minimum.

Commercial Out
addition to qualifying un-this more flexible fishing days requirement, fishermen seeking licenses for 1970 must be among those licensed this year. In other words, no new commercial fishermen will be licensed in 1970.

Another new rule coming up for action next week would limit next year's licenses to operators who submit all of their required 1969 commercial fishing reports to the DNR. On a final recommended clearing point, applicants for 1970 licenses would have to have their nets, boats, and other equipment pass the DNR's inspection.

Commercial fishermen licensed in 1970 will be eligible for licenses in following years as long as they continue to meet all of these requirements.

According to the DNR, the screening system refined for all other license-seeking operators is an outgrowth of the best combined thinking of the DNR's Fish Division staff and members of the Great Lakes Fishery Advisory Committee appointed early this year by Governor Milliken.

Licensing Standards
The set of licensing standards is the first to be worked up since the DNR was authorized under Act 336 of 1968 to establish a limited entry system for the state's commercial fishery.
Under that same Act, the DNR was given the green light to closely control the industry's harvests as another means of protecting fishery resources of Michigan's Great Lakes waters.

Under this streamlined management approach, the DNR will close some areas of the Great Lakes to commercial fishing in 1970 and place certain netting restrictions on operators who are licensed for next year.

Harvest quotas and catch fees will not be set, except possibly under very special circumstances, until at least one year of experience has been gained under the opening phase of the limited entry system.

AT THE JOE OSTANEK strawberry and maple syrup farm of Trenary, visitors on the farm tour learned of the syrup operation. This year was a poor year for syrup and only 400 gallons were produced from the 2,000 trees tapped. Ostanek, left, demon- strates the operation to Arvid Norlin, Alger Extension Agent.

Farm Tour Attracts Over 250 Visitors

CHATHAM—Comments that will have a direct bearing on the agricultural and resource development of the Upper Peninsula were heard by more than 250 visitors attending the 10th annual U.P. Farm Management Tour.

One of these came from Richard Bell, assistant director of Michigan State University's Cooperative Extension Service, the tour's featured speaker. He said the proposed Northern Beef Enterprise Demonstration Center will be established this fall on the upper farm of the U.P. Experiment Station at Chatham.

He said the center would provide practical demonstrations of cow-calf production and would serve interested beef cattlemen in Michigan,
Wisconsin and Minnesota.

Beef Production Gains

The production of beef brood cows in the U.P. has increased eight-fold since 1949, he noted, even though the number of farms has been declining at the rate of one per day. At the same time, per capita beef consumption in the U.S. is increasing steadily.

Sixty-five cows will be brought to the center this fall for experimentation and demonstration of production on forage suited to growing in the area. Bell said the herd will eventually total 200, and shortcourses and other demonstrations will be held on a regular basis.

Other commentary critical to the U.P.'s future came from the two farmers featured on the tour and the specialists who presented reports on late developments in farm and natural resources management.

Careful Breeding

Lawrence Obenauf, who operates a 200 acre dairy and corn operation south of Chatham reported on adjustments he had to make in his farm to increase his herd production from 12,746 pounds per cow in 1967 to 14,458 in 1968.

He follows a careful cow breeding program, keeps thorough farm records on milk and crop production, and has expanded his building and storage facilities whenever the situation warranted it.

Obenauf has built two silos, added a 40-foot addition to his barn and built a 36 foot by 74 foot facility for young stock—all within the last three years.

He has also increased alfalfa hay production by nearly a ton per acre during the same period.

Joseph Ostanek, Trenary
maple syrup and strawberry producer, demonstrated the advantage of his combination cash crop program. He sells all his berries on a "pick your own" basis during the summer, and has invested in an evaporator that helped turn out more than 400 gallons of syrup for on-the-farm sale this year.

The Farm Management Tour began in the morning at the Chatham Experiment Station with tours of crops, dairy and forestry research areas.

Specialists made variety and fertilizer recommendations, demonstrated tree shearing and reported on dairy breeding, feeding and management.

Water Areas For Swimming

On the basis of water samples collected at Delta and Menominee beaches in the past week, the following beaches and swimming areas are considered safe for swimming: Escanaba Beach, Gladstone Beach, Nah-ma Beach, Twinsprings Beach, Whitefish River, Soo Hill Quarry, Escanaba Dam No. 3, Ford River, Cedar River and Hermansville Lake.

This list is compiled weekly by the Delta-Menominee Health Department. The Department recommends that swimming activities be carried out only at the above authorized locations where lifeguards and rescue equipment are provided.

Groundbreaking For Kresge Hall Set For Saturday

Groundbreaking ceremony for the start of construction of Kresge Hall on Summer Island, financed by a gift of $60,000 to Summer Science Camp from the Kresge Foundation, will be held Saturday afternoon.

Dan Stevens, Summer
Science Inc., president, said Summer Science Camp students will be in charge of the ceremony that will be held at 3 p.m.

Members of Summer Science board of trustees, representatives of Michigan Technological University and other educational institutions, will be present for the event. The building will serve as a study, seminar and dining hall and will be completed next year.

Services Set Saturday For Mrs. A. Plant

Augusta Plant of Stirling Hts., Mich., have been completed as follows: friends may call at the Allo Funeral Home from 3 to 9:30 p. m. today and parish prayers will be recited at 8 p. m. today.

Funeral services will be conducted at 9 a. m. Saturday at St. Joseph's Church with the Rev. Fabian Gerstle officiating and burial will be in Holy Cross Cemetery.

Mrs. Plant was a member of St. Joseph's Church and the St.
Joseph Altar Society. Survivors include a son, Archie of Stirling Heights and four grandchildren. Her husband Archie preceded her in death in 1925.

A Blank Check

How much should Michigan Legislators receive in expense allowances?

The State Officers Compensation Commission — a new organization created by affirmative vote of the people last fall on a proposal placed on the ballot by the Legislature — was recalled to Lansing last week to consider changes in mileage allowance requested by some legislators.

Last fall, the Commission raised salaries from $12,500 to $15,000 and granted an expense allowance up to $3,000, but some legislators have used up all or nearly all of the $3,000 already and wanted more money.

The commission — over the strong objections of Ralph Huhtala of Iron Mountain, a member of the panel — recommended that members of the Legislature file full expense accounts even after they exceed the $3,000 minimum "so that early next year when the records are available for unhurried examination a sound and deliberate determination can be made."

Questions of legislative salary and expense levels have plagued the Legislature for years. Raising their own pay brought down the wrath of the voters, many of whom were taking home much less money for longer working hours. But failure to pay respectable salaries, legislators argued, would threaten the quality of the men in the Legislature.

"If we don't pay a good wage," they said, "why would anyone want to leave home or another position?"

Thus came the idea of creating a State Officers Compensation Commission. Such a body would settle the salary and expense levels and be fair to both the taxpayers who are paying the bills and the state officers who represent them.

If the recent "emergency" meeting of the group is any indication — the commission was called into session two days after a legislative amendment authorized the meeting and only four of the seven members were able to attend on such short notice — the new system may be worse than the old one.

The Legislators who previously set their own compensation rates at least had to listen to the complaints of their constituents, a factor which tempered the tendency to be too generous too often. Now the Commission runs interference, feeling pressure from the representatives but not the voters, and gives representatives and senators a convenient out when they start feeling the "heat" at home.

"We didn't raise our expenses, the Commission did," they can say while failing to point out that it was the Legislature, itself, that called the group into session.

There may be circumstances which require some men of the Legislature to spend more than others — trips to the home districts in the Upper Peninsula certainly are costlier than trips from Lansing to Detroit — but representatives who have already spent to the limit certainly were aware of the limitations back in January when the year started.

A $3,000 allowance for expenses seems reasonable (a round-trip plane ticket from Escanaba to Lansing, for example, can be purchased for less than $65) and the recent action by the Commission authorizing members of the Legislature to submit full expense claims, even though they may have already exceeded the $3,000 maximum, amounts to granting them a blank check. The action is the height of irresponsibility.

The Family Lawyer

Defending Your "Castle"

More than three centuries ago, England's Lord Coke proclaimed that "a man's house is his castle." It still is. Generally speaking, you have a right to repel an unlawful intruder, using as much force as is necessary — including even deadly force. For example:

A home owner, hearing someone pry open his kitchen door in the middle of the night, grabbed a gun and went to investigate. Entering the dark kitchen, he demanded that the intruder identify himself. When the man instead began to move forward menacingly, the home owner fired a fatal shot.

Although brought to trial later on a homicide charge, he was found not guilty. The court said that, considering the threatening circumstances, he was within his legal rights in defending the sanctity of his "castle."

The doctrine is not meant to protect your home merely as a pile of bricks and mortar, but rather as a personal haven of safety for you and your family. Therefore, it applies just as much to premises you rent as to premises you own.

Furthermore, you may act not only against an intruder but also against a visitor who refuses to leave when you tell him to.

On the other hand you must not in any event use more force than is reasonably necessary under the circumstances. Take this case:

A man talking politics with a visiting neighbor became incensed and asked him to leave. The neighbor arose to go. But he did not move fast enough for his erstwhile host, who speeded him along with a vicious kick. Result: the home owner was held liable for assault and battery. The court said the kick was simply not justified by the circumstances.

Nor may you arbitrarily widen your legitimate circle of defense. In another case a girl's protective father saw, approaching the house, a youth whom he had ordered to stay away. The father opened his front door, stepped outside, and shot the caller in the arm.

Here too the home owner was ordered to pay damages.

"A man's house is his castle," said the court, "but he has no right to go (outside) and attempt to kill a man who has done no act of indicating the intention of making forcible entry."

TALE OF WHOA

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

There isn't much that is true about Marxism.

The notion that the rich get richer and the poor get poorer and more numerous under capitalism was thoroughly exploded in Karl Marx's own lifetime.

The idea that the State would "wither away" under Socialism has been thoroughly refuted everywhere behind the Iron and Bamboo Curtains, and in such Communist outposts as Fidel Castro's Cuba.

And the theory that the working class was destined to lead revolutions failed to reckon with the psychology of the trade unions in the advanced industrialized countries: where socialist revolutions did occur they happened to be the product of disappointed or fanatical middle class intellectuals.

One thing, however, about Marxism is worth remembering: when socialists say that capitalism depends on the course of the investment cycle, they are right. The consumer alone cannot sustain an expanding profit system; to keep things going, there must be a steady growth of capital plant.

The money that goes into new factory space and new projects gets spent twice over: it buys the heavy equipment, and in turn is passed back into the economic system when the wages paid out by the capital goods producers turn up at the grocery store, the service station, the automotive dealers' agencies, and in the landlords' pockets. Wages handed out to client to sustain a limping, indeed a shrinking, capitalism, as we learned to our cost in the 1930s before the war investment boom finally ended ten years of depression.

Since the bird of capitalism requires two wings if it is to continue flying, next Jan. 1 will mark a most crucial date on the calendar. The whole push of the Nixon Administration is toward discouraging new investment.

Money has been made scarcer, interest rates have been pushed in some cases to almost Bra-

the employees in the consumer goods industries are only sufficient figures. The threat to cut down on the tax exemption of municipal bonds promises a bad time for contractors and the construction goods industries. And the idea of giving the consumer a break in January by substituting a five per cent surtax for the current 10 per cent impost won't help the people who work in the capital goods industries once the current investment tax credit is abolished and new projects are inevitably abandoned by enterprisers who are hard up for money.

At this precise moment in time we don't see what is threatened by investment curtailment. The big corporations are still pushing ahead with capital spending for new buildings and new machine tools in order to get the benefit of the investment tax credit while they still can. The construction pipe lines remain more or less full.

But such corporate giants as Armco Steel, Chrysler, the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. and International Harvester have already announced that they will be spending less for capital outlays in the future. The McGraw-Hill survey made last April indicated that 1970, at best, will be just about even with 1969 in capital expenditures. But the population won't stay even. And, since April, the gloom has deepened: more and more cutbacks have been announced as money has become progressively tighter.

Congress, of course, can change its collective mind rather swiftly if a depression seems about to hit.

A surtax can be eliminated, leaving people with more money to spend. Interest rates can be lowered with the flick of a statement from the Federal Reserve.

But if the capital investment pipelines are empty, they can't be filled overnight. It takes time to plan new automotive assembly plants, to go into diversified lines, and to get the iron ore out of the ground in Labrador or Venezuela and turn it into turbines, steel girders and lathes.

The Nixon Administration, with its projected repeal of the investment tax credit and its continuing high interest rates, could be caught in the early Seventies with a capital investment gap. That is the chance it is running.

Anti-Inflation Plan Is Badly Off Target

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Some questions, observations and comments about the state of the American economy, especially as they relate to ordinary consumers and their quest for financial security:

Something Is Wrong
 Despite the classic beauty of the Nixon administration's anti-inflation program isn't it badly off target when among the first effects to be felt are a decline in housing construction and a curtailment of student loans?

Because of an eight-month-old squeeze on the supply of money, home mortgage rates are now up to 7 1/2 per cent on average. Moreover, many request for loans simply are turned down no matter how sound the borrower's finances.

The net result is that housing starts are down to around 1.4 million units a year, or hundreds of thousands of units fewer than are needed. In addition, at least one-third of the units are in large apartment houses.

Lending Rate
 The one bright aspect of the housing picture is that in some areas the steep rise in prices has slowed. In fact, if you check with real estate brokers you'll find that the price tags on some houses have dropped in recent weeks.

The banks can charge only 7 per cent on government backed loans, while the basic lending rate to the best customers is 8.5 per cent.

Unless quick action is taken in the House of Representatives to improve the return to banks, as many as 200,000 students might be turned down in seeking loans for the fall semester.

The Mystery of Meat Prices
 So far this year the average retail price of meat has risen more than 9 per cent. Since meats account for 25 to 30 per cent of the average family budget, it is obvious what this increase is doing to food budgets.

But why should meat prices rise so sharply when the supplies of meat are abundant? In the past, price increases generally were associated with a shortage of supplies. But there's no great shortage today.

Prosperity
 The American Meat Institute, a producer's organization, claims that the only possible answer is a big increase in demands for meats, resulting partially from consumer prosperity. If so, that demand was indeed very sudden.

Has Detroit Misread The Consumer?

Some of the cleverest marketing brains are employed by General Motors, Ford, Chrysler and American Motors. Using electronic and mathematical studies, they seemingly can read the brainwaves, desires, aspirations of ordinary Americans.

It appears that way from the reports, that is. The hard statistics show a different result. Americans, for example, continue to buy foreign cars in numbers that Detroit would never have believed a few years ago.

Last year more than a million imports were sold in the United States, giving foreign cars 10.7 per cent of the market. This year they've pushed that figure to 12.7 per cent. Foreign car sales rose in July; domestic sales were down.

Overkill
 Although the anti-inflation policy of the Federal Reserve and the Nixon administration is just now showing some long delayed effects, a few economists already fear the measures have gone too far.

Money Flow
 The chief weapon in curtailing inflation is restricting the flow of money to the economy. Its effects aren't really felt until months after the action and

Contract Bridge

By B. JAY BECKER

1. You are declarer with the West hand at Four Hearts. North leads the king of clubs and continues with the queen, which South overtakes with the ace. South shifts to the four of spades. How would you play the hand?

♠ Q5 ♠ A7
 ♥ AQ104 ♥ K852
 ♦ A82 ♦ K973
 ♣ 963 ♣ 42

2. You are declarer with the West hand at Six Clubs. North leads the king of diamonds. How would you play the hand?

♠ K1042 ♠ AQ5
 ♥ A53 ♥ K1042
 ♣ KQ1073 ♣ AJ952

1. It is obvious that North has the king of spades because the defenders would surely have arranged for North to make the spade lead if South had the king. You should therefore play the five from your hand, not the queen.

Your only legitimate chance for the contract is to play on the assumption that North has a doubleton (or singleton) diamond. Draw trumps, ruff a club in dummy, cash the A-K of diamonds, and exit with a spade to North's king. If North started with one or two diamonds, he will be forced to return a spade or a club, in which case you will ruff in dummy and discard your diamond loser.

2. With proper play, the slam cannot be defeated regardless of how the cards are divided. Ruff the diamond and draw two (or three) rounds of trumps. Then lead the ace and another heart. If North follows low on the second heart, play the ten, thus assuring the contract. If North plays the jack or queen instead, win with the king and you are again sure of losing only one heart trick.

If North does not follow to the first or second heart, the slam is still certain even though there seem to be two heart losers. You simply cash the A-Q of spades and lead the five.

First let's suppose South shows out. Win with the king and return the ten, discarding a heart from dummy. North wins with the jack, but, whatever he returns, you discard the last heart from dummy as you ruff the return in your hand. All you lose is a spade trick.

Second, let's suppose South follows low on the five of spades. Finesse the ten. If it wins, you have twelve tricks; if it loses, you still have twelve tricks because North must return a diamond, which you ruff after discarding a heart from dummy. You then cash the king of spades, discarding another heart from dummy.

Ann Landers

Grandparents Avoid Sending Child Gift

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I married eight years ago. I was nearly three months pregnant. We've had a happy marriage and I've tried to be kind to my in-laws although they never had any use for me and they let me know it.

We now have three children and are proud of them all. My in-laws moved out of the state five years ago. They send the two younger children beautiful birthday gifts every year and ignore the oldest child's birthday completely. The message is clear and I resent it. The child is old enough to ask why her grandparents never send her a birthday gift. I can no longer say, "They forgot."

Although my in-laws dislike me intensely I have managed to keep things peaceful and I'd hate to create a rift in the family. At the same time I feel they are being cruel to our child and I can't bear it. What should I do? — No Happy Birthday

Dear No: Your husband (not you) should write to his parents and tell them the oldest child can't understand why Grandma and Grandpa keep forgetting her birthday. Ask them to please send her a card if they don't wish to send a gift. If they fail to comply with his request next year, return the younger children's birthday gifts, unopened.

Dear Ann Landers: I am married to a wonderful man and consider myself extremely fortunate. He has dozens of marvelous qualities but as a lover he is a failure.

I try to fake it but no male as perceptive and sensitive as he can be fooled. He knows my lovemaking is the "duty brand."

It kills me when my husband lies beside me at night, silent and pensive. I'm sure he is brooding over his inadequacy. I don't go along with your advice to other wives — "Tell him what is wrong and together you can work out a pattern of lovemaking that is mutually rewarding." I can't imagine anything more ego-shattering to a man than to be told he is a poor lover.

Help me, please Ann. I'm confused and unhappy. — Jennie

Dear Jennie: By your own admission, you've already told him—in language far more eloquent than words. And now you must be more explicit. He won't be hurt, he'll be grateful. A man who cares for his woman is teachable. (And if the shoe is on the other foot, boys, women are teachable, too.)

Dear Ann Landers: I'm an honor student and I work hard to get good grades. Some kids are just naturally brainy but

I'm a plunger, not a genius. Last year I was bugged by at least ten friends who wanted to copy my homework. Half the time I said, "O.K." The rest of the time I made up excuses like, "I haven't finished yet." They knew I was lying. Later I hated myself for being chicken.

I don't want to lose any friends. Can you suggest a polite way of telling the pa-pooses (kids who ride on somebody else's back) to get lost? — C.Q.

Dear C.Q.: You don't have to tell anybody to get lost. Just say—"No." A friend who drops you because you won't help him cheat represents no great loss.

How far should a teenage couple go? Can necking be safe? When does it become too hot to handle? Send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Necking And Petting—What Are The Limits?" Mail your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper enclosing 50c in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed and stamped envelope.

Firm Building Concrete Boat

BIDDEFORD, Maine (AP) — Soon to join a nautical world of steel, wood and fiberglass ships is a cement sailboat that won't sink like a "concrete cloud."

A 42-foot schooner with hull made of solid cement is nearly completed with more conventional ship building materials at Rumery's Boat Yard here.

The 22-ton ship was designed along the lines of two-masted pinkie schooners, ships with narrow overhanging sterns that were used as freighters along the coast of Maine in the 19th Century.

The Seacrete Construction Co. in Portland made the hull of ferro-cement, a distant relative of standard construction cement.

The firm claims it will withstand flexing and is immune to corrosion, rot and marine borers. It's the third the company has built in 1 1/2 years of operations.

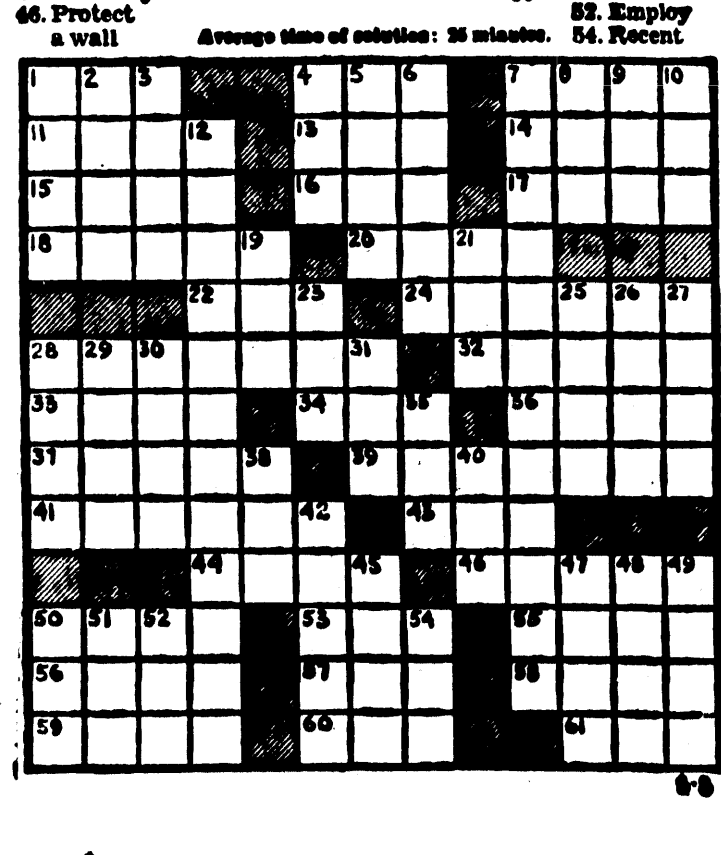

The schooner is being built for Mr. and Mrs. John Ackerman of Bel Air, Md., and will be christened "dunmowen," the Acermans plan to use it as a Caribbean home.

Rumery's is finishing the ship's interior and will build the superstructure.

When finished, the schooner will draw six feet of water and have sleeping accommodations for eight.

A Blank Check

How much should Michigan Legislators receive in expense allowances?

The State Officers Compensation Commission — a new organization created by affirmative vote of the people last fall on a proposal placed on the ballot by the Legislature — was recalled to Lansing last week to consider changes in mileage allowance requested by some legislators.

Last fall, the Commission raised salaries from $12,500 to $15,000 and granted an expense allowance up to $3,000, but some legislators have used up all or nearly all of the $3,000 already and wanted more money.

The commission — over the strong objections of Ralph Huhtala of Iron Mountain, a member of the panel — recommended that members of the Legislature file full expense accounts even after they exceed the $3,000 minimum "so that early next year when the records are available for unhurried examination a sound and deliberate determination can be made."

Questions of legislative salary and expense levels have plagued the Legislature for years. Raising their own pay brought down the wrath of the voters, many of whom were taking home much less money for longer working hours. But failure to pay respectable salaries, legislators argued, would threaten the quality of the men in the Legislature.

"If we don't pay a good wage," they said, "why would anyone want to leave home or another position?"

Thus came the idea of creating a State Officers Compensation Commission. Such a body would settle the salary and expense levels and be fair to both the taxpayers who are paying the bills and the state officers who represent them.

If the recent "emergency" meeting of the group is any indication — the commission was called into session two days after a legislative amendment authorized the meeting and only four of the seven members were able to attend on such short notice — the new system may be worse than the old one.

The Legislators who previously set their own compensation rates at least had to listen to the complaints of their constituents, a factor which tempered the tendency to be too generous too often. Now the Commission runs interference, feeling pressure from the representatives but not the voters, and gives representatives and senators a convenient out when they start feeling the "heat" at home.

"We didn't raise our expenses, the Commission did," they can say while failing to point out that it was the Legislature, itself, that called the group into session.

There may be circumstances which require some men of the Legislature to spend more than others — trips to the home districts in the Upper Peninsula certainly are costlier than trips from Lansing to Detroit — but representatives who have already spent to the limit certainly were aware of the limitations back in January when the year started.

A $3,000 allowance for expenses seems reasonable (a round-trip plane ticket from Escanaba to Lansing, for example, can be purchased for less than $65) and the recent action by the Commission authorizing members of the Legislature to submit full expense claims, even though they may have already exceeded the $3,000 maximum, amounts to granting them a blank check. The action is the height of irresponsibility.

The Family Lawyer

Defending Your "Castle"

More than three centuries ago, England's Lord Coke proclaimed that "a man's house is his castle." It still is. Generally speaking, you have a right to repel an unlawful intruder, using as much force as is necessary — including even deadly force. For example:

A home owner, hearing someone pry open his kitchen door in the middle of the night, grabbed a gun and went to investigate. Entering the dark kitchen, he demanded that the intruder identify himself. When the man instead began to move forward menacingly, the home owner fired a fatal shot.

Although brought to trial later on a homicide charge, he was found not guilty. The court said that, considering the threatening circumstances, he was within his legal rights in defending the sanctity of his "castle."

The doctrine is not meant to protect your home merely as a pile of bricks and mortar, but rather as a personal haven of safety for you and your family. Therefore, it applies just as much to premises you rent as to premises you own.

Furthermore, you may act not only against an intruder but also against a visitor who refuses to leave when you tell him to.

On the other hand you must not in any event use more force than is reasonably necessary under the circumstances. Take this case:

A man talking politics with a visiting neighbor became incensed and asked him to leave. The neighbor arose to go. But he did not move fast enough for his erstwhile host, who speeded him along with a vicious kick. Result: the home owner was held liable for assault and battery. The court said the kick was simply not justified by the circumstances.

Nor may you arbitrarily widen your legitimate circle of defense. In another case a girl's protective father saw, approaching the house, a youth whom he had ordered to stay away. The father opened his front door, stepped outside, and shot the caller in the arm.

Here too the home owner was ordered to pay damages.

"A man's house is his castle," said the court, "but he has no right to go (outside) and attempt to kill a man who has done no act of indicating the intention of making forcible entry."

TALE OF WHOA

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

There isn't much that is true about Marxism.

The notion that the rich get richer and the poor get both poorer and more numerous under capitalism was thoroughly exploded in Karl Marx's own lifetime.

The idea that the State would "wither away" under Socialism has been thoroughly refuted everywhere behind the Iron and Bamboo Curtains, and in such Communist outposts as Fidel Castro's Cuba.

And the theory that the working class was destined to lead revolutions failed to reckon with the psychology of the trade unions in the advanced industrialized countries; where socialist revolutions did occur they happened to be the product of disappointed or fanatical middle class intellectuals.

One thing, however, about Marxism is worth remembering: when socialists say that capitalism depends on the course of the investment cycle, they are right. The consumer alone cannot sustain an expanding profit system; to keep things going, there must be a steady growth of capital plant.

The money that goes into new factory space and new projects gets spent twice over: it buys the heavy equipment, and in turn is passed back into the economic system when the wages paid out by the capital goods producers turn up at the grocery store, the service station, the automotive dealers' agencies, and in the landlords' pockets. Wages handed out to clement to sustain a limping, indeed a shrinking, capitalism, as we learned to our cost in the 1930s before the war investment boom finally ended ten years of depression.

Since the bird of capitalism requires two wings if it is to continue flying, next Jan. 1 will mark a most crucial date on the calendar. The whole push of the Nixon Administration is toward discouraging new investment.

Money has been made scarcer, interest rates have been pushed in some cases to almost Bra-

the employees in the consumer goods industries are only sufficient figures. The threat to cut down on the tax exemption of municipal bonds promises a bad time for contractors and the construction goods industries. And the idea of giving the consumer a break in January by substituting a five per cent surtax for the current 10 per cent impost won't help the people who work in the capital goods industries once the current investment tax credit is abolished and new projects are inevitably abandoned by enterprisers who are hard up for money.

At this precise moment in time we don't see what is threatened by investment curtailment. The big corporations are still pushing ahead with capital spending for new buildings and new machine tools in order to get the benefit of the investment tax credit while they still can. The construction pipe lines remain more or less full.

But such corporate giants as Armco Steel, Chrysler, the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. and International Harvester have already announced that they will be spending less for capital outlays in the future. The McGraw-Hill survey made last April indicated that 1970, at best, will be just about even with 1969 in capital expenditures. But the population won't stay even. And, since April, the gloom has deepened: more and more cutbacks have been announced as money has become progressively tighter.

Congress, of course, can change its collective mind rather swiftly if a depression seems about to hit.

A surtax can be eliminated, leaving people with more money to spend. Interest rates can be lowered with the flick of a statement from the Federal Reserve.

But if the capital investment pipelines are empty, they can't be filled overnight. It takes time to plan new automotive assembly plants, to go into diversified lines, and to get the iron ore out of the ground in Labrador or Venezuela and turn it into turbines, steel girders and lathes.

The Nixon Administration, with its projected repeal of the investment tax credit and its continuing high interest rates, could be caught in the early Seventies with a capital investment gap. That is the chance it is running.

Anti-Inflation Plan Is Badly Off Target

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Some questions, observations and comments about the state of the American economy, especially as they relate to ordinary consumers and their quest for financial security:

Something Is Wrong
Despite the classic beauty of the Nixon administration's anti-inflation program isn't it badly off target when among the first effects to be felt are a decline in housing construction and a curtailment of student loans?

Because of an eight-month-old squeeze on the supply of money, home mortgage rates are now up to 7 1/2 per cent on average. Moreover, many request for loans simply are turned down no matter how sound the borrower's finances.

The net result is that housing starts are down to around 1.4 million units a year, or hundreds of thousands of units fewer than are needed. In addition, at least one-third of the units are in large apartment houses.

Lending Rate
The one bright aspect of the housing picture is that in some areas the steep rise in prices has slowed. In fact, if you check with real estate brokers you'll find that the price tags on some houses have dropped in recent weeks.

The banks can charge only 7 per cent on government backed loans, while the basic lending rate to the best customers is 8.5 per cent.

Unless quick action is taken in the House of Representatives to improve the return to banks, as many as 200,000 students might be turned down in seeking loans for the fall semester.

The Mystery of Meat Prices
So far this year the average retail price of meat has risen more than 9 per cent. Since meats account for 25 to 30 per cent of the average family budget it is obvious what this increase is doing to food budgets. But why should meat prices rise so sharply when the supplies of meat are abundant? In the past, price increases generally were associated with a shortage of supplies. But there's no great shortage today.

Prosperity
The American Meat Institute, a producer's organization, claims that the only possible answer is a big increase in demands for meats, resulting partially from consumer prosperity. If so, that demand was indeed very sudden.

Has Detroit Misread The Consumer?
Some of the cleverest marketing brains are employed by General Motors, Ford, Chrysler and American Motors. Using electronic and mathematical studies, they seemingly can read the brainwaves, desires, aspirations of ordinary Americans.

It appears that way from the reports, that is. The hard statistics show a different result. Americans, for example, continue to buy foreign cars in numbers that Detroit would never have believed a few years ago. Last year more than a million imports were sold in the United States, giving foreign cars 10.7 per cent of the market. This year they've pushed that figure to 12.7 per cent. Foreign car sales rose in July; domestic sales were down.

Overkill
Although the anti-inflation policy of the Federal Reserve and the Nixon administration is just now showing some long delayed effects, a few economists already fear the measures have gone too far.

Money Flow
The chief weapon in curtailing inflation is restricting the flow of money to the economy. Its effects aren't really felt until months after the action and

Contract Bridge

By B. JAY BECKER

1. You are declarer with the West hand at Four Hearts. North leads the king of clubs and continues with the queen, which South overtakes with the ace. South shifts to the four of spades. How would you play the hand?

2. You are declarer with the West hand at Six Clubs. North leads the king of diamonds. How would you play the hand?

♠ K1042
♥ A653

1. It is obvious that North has the king of spades because the defenders would surely have arranged for North to make the spade lead if South had the king. You should therefore play the five from your hand, not the queen.

Your only legitimate chance for the contract is to play on the assumption that North has a doubleton (or singleton) diamond. Draw trumps, ruff a club in dummy, cash the A-K of diamonds, and exit with a spade to North's king. If North started with one or two diamonds, he will be forced to return a spade or a club, in which case you will ruff in dummy and discard your diamond loser.

2. With proper play, the slam cannot be defeated regardless of how the cards are divided. Ruff the diamond and draw two (or three) rounds of trumps. Then lead the ace and another heart. If North follows low on the second heart, play the ten, thus assuring the contract. If North plays the jack or queen instead, win with the king and you are again sure of losing only one heart trick.

If North does not follow to the first or second heart, the slam is still certain even though there seem to be two heart losers. You simply cash the A-Q of spades and lead the five.

First let's suppose South shows out. Win with the king and return the ten, discarding a heart from dummy. North wins with the jack, but, whatever he returns, you discard the last heart from dummy as you ruff the return in your hand. All you lose is a spade trick.

Second, let's suppose South follows low on the five of spades. Finesse the ten. If it wins, you have twelve tricks; if it loses, you still have twelve tricks because North must return a diamond, which you ruff after discarding a heart from dummy. You then cash the king of spades, discarding another heart from dummy.

Grandparents Avoid Sending Child Gift

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I married eight years ago. I was nearly three months pregnant. We've had a happy marriage and I've tried to be kind to my in-laws although they never had any use for me and they let me know it.

We now have three children and are proud of them all. My in-laws moved out of the state five years ago. They send the two younger children beautiful birthday gifts every year and ignore the oldest child's birthday completely. The message is clear and I resent it. The child is old enough to ask why her grandparents never send her a birthday gift. I can no longer say, "They forgot."

Although my in-laws dislike me intensely I have managed to keep things peaceful and I'd hate to create a rift in the family. At the same time I feel they are being cruel to our child and I can't bear it. What should I do? — No Happy Birthday

Dear No: Your husband (not you) should write to his parents and tell them the oldest child can't understand why Grandma and Grandpa keep forgetting her birthday. Ask them to please send her a card if they don't wish to send a gift. If they fail to comply with his request next year, return the younger children's birthday gifts, unopened.

Dear Ann Landers: I am married to a wonderful man and consider myself extremely fortunate. He has dozens of marvelous qualities but as a lover he is a failure.

I try to fake it but no male as perceptive and sensitive as he can be fooled. He knows my lovemaking is the "duty brand."

It kills me when my husband lies beside me at night, silent and pensive. I'm sure he is brooding over his inadequacy. I don't go along with your advice to other wives — "Tell him what is wrong and together you can work out a pattern of lovemaking that is mutually rewarding." I can't imagine anything more ego-shattering to a man than to be told he is a poor lover.

Help me, please Ann. I'm confused and unhappy. — Jennie

Dear Jennie: By your own admission, you've already told him—in language far more eloquent than words. And now you must be more explicit. He won't be hurt, he'll be grateful. A man who cares for his woman is teachable. (And if the shoe is on the other foot, boys, women are teachable, too.)

Dear Ann Landers: I'm an honor student and I work hard to get good grades. Some kids are just naturally brainy but

I'm a pluggler, not a genius. Last year I was bugged by at least ten friends who wanted to copy my homework. Half the time I said, "O.K." The rest of the time I made up excuses like, "I haven't finished yet." They knew I was lying. Later I hated myself for being chicken.

I don't want to lose any friends. Can you suggest a polite way of telling the papposes (kids who ride on somebody else's back) to get lost? — C.Q.

Dear C.Q.: You don't have to tell anybody to get lost. Just say—"No." A friend who drops you because you won't help him cheat represents no great loss.

How far should a teen-age couple go? Can necking be safe? When does it become too hot to handle? Send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Necking And Petting—What Are The Limits?" Mail your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper enclosing 50c in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a self-addressed and stamped envelope.

New Products On Builders' Market

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

What's new on the market?

THE PRODUCT—A new style window screen that can be easily installed on any size double-hung wood window.

THE MANUFACTURER'S CLAIM—That this screen is charcoal-colored fiber glass screening that is almost invisible when installed and is guaranteed not to shrink, stretch or discolor . . . that it is available in most standard window sizes, but can be altered quickly if necessary to fit an odd-sized window . . . that hardware and instructions are furnished with each screen and that only a hammer is needed for installation . . . and that the screening material is glare free.

THE PRODUCT—A 3-inch brush-and-tray set featuring a special wheel that guides the brush along trim areas.

THE MANUFACTURER'S CLAIM—That professional results can be obtained by the novice when working from open areas into corners and when edging or trimming without getting paint on adjoining surfaces . . . that the brush has nylon fibers for latex and oil paints and foam base cushions that apply paint to irregularly shaped surfaces . . . and that the pads are replaceable.

THE PRODUCT—A hedge trimmer that fits into any quarter-inch portable electric drill.

THE MANUFACTURER'S CLAIM—That the trimmer can be attached in seconds with a new slide-lock . . . that it has a 14-inch blade to trim wide areas with each stroke . . . that its long handle locks at 10 different angles for convenient use . . . and that it can be handled easily by women.

THE PRODUCT—A self-adjusting ratchet nut driver with a three-way shift selector.

THE MANUFACTURER'S CLAIM—That the tempered steel hex sockets of the tool adjust automatically to all sizes of nuts from one-quarter of an inch to 7/16ths . . . that the shift selector located on the shaft enables the direction of drive forward, reversed or locked to be controlled by thumb pressure . . . that the nut driver has a corrosion-proof internal mechanism, including tempered steel springs . . . and that its handle conforms to the hand for a comfortable grip.

THE PRODUCT—A special black paint for use on barbecues, stoves, hibachis and all outdoor and indoor grills, hoods and burners.

THE MANUFACTURER'S CLAIM—That this paint is dispensed in an aerosol can for easy use on fire-damaged or scorched equipment around the home . . . that it is non-toxic and safe to use . . . and that it can withstand heat to 1,000 degrees Fahrenheit.

(For Andy Lang's helpful booklet, "Paint Your House Inside and Out," send 25 cents and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to: Know-How, P. O. Box 477, Huntington, N. Y. 11743.)

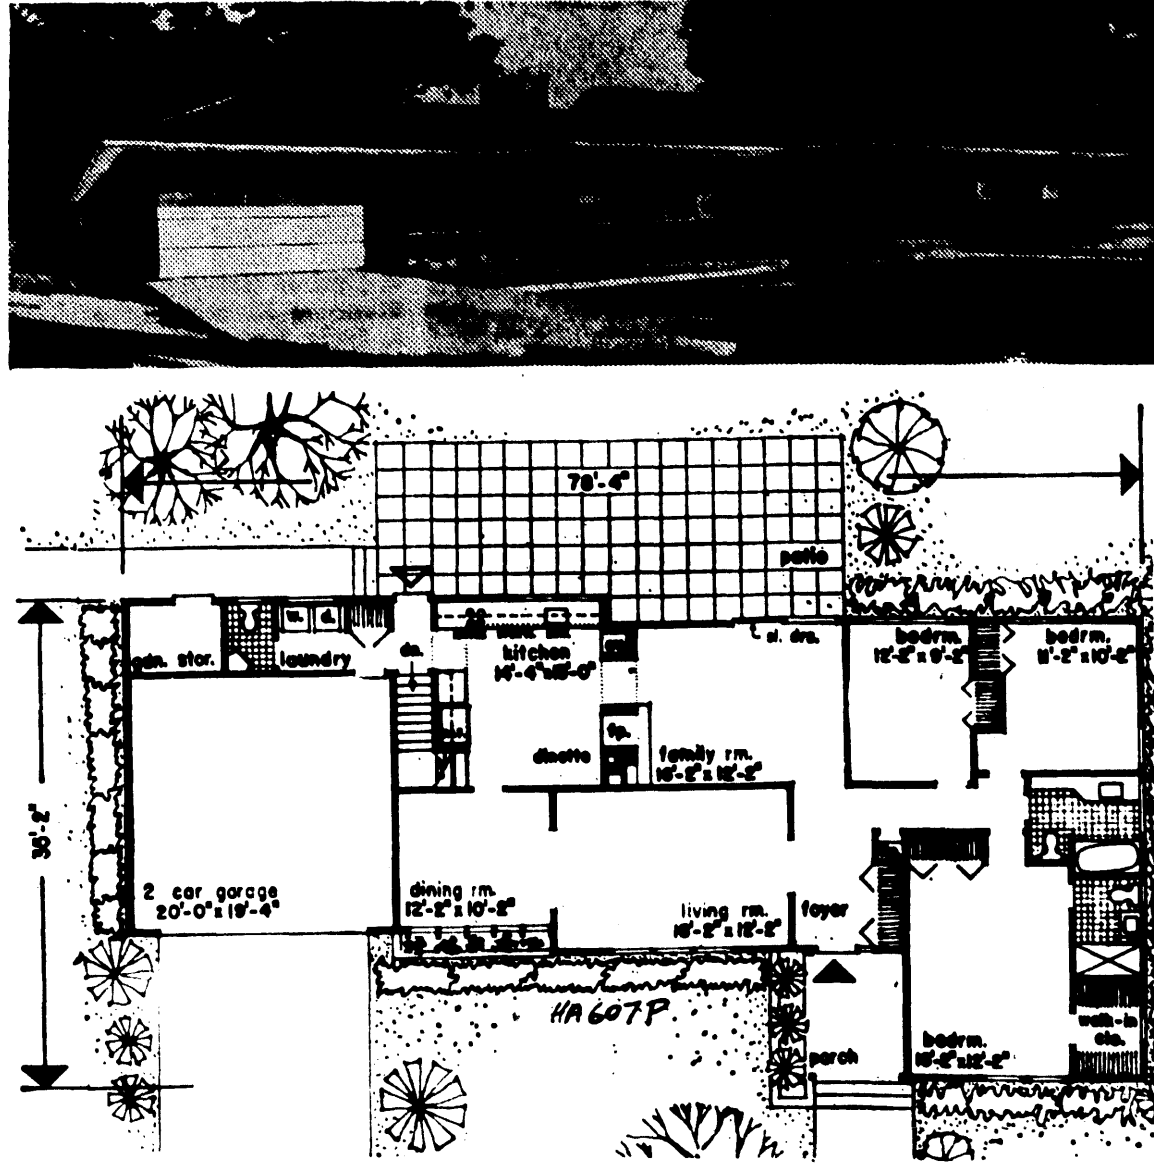

(The window screen is manufactured by Virginia Iron and Metal Co., Richmond, Va.; the brush-and-tray set by Paintmaster, New York; the hedge trimmer by Arco Tools, New York; the nut driver by Vaco Products Co., Chicago; and the barbecue paint by the N. Y. Bronze Powder Co., Elizabeth, N. J.)

Body In Attic

DETROIT (AP)—Police in Detroit are seeking an 18-year-old youth for questioning in the death of Larry Wright, 17, whose body was found Wednesday in the bloodstained attic of a Detroit house.

Wright had been missing since Aug. 1. Police are seeking the youth last seen by a witness driving away in Wright's car.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

THE LONG, LOW lines of this modest sized ranch house (1,660 square feet of living space) give it a larger look. A two-way red brick fireplace, reminiscent of the kitchen hearth of early American days, divides the family room from the kitchen, but is so low that the two rooms blend into one. A sloped beamed ceiling runs across both rooms. The exterior can be redwood, cedar or regular painted siding. There are shutters on the living room and main bedroom windows but not on the large casement windows of the dining room. Plan HA607P, called Elinore, was designed by Samuel Paul, 89-30 161st St., Jamaica, N. Y.

Wind And Waves Cause Ranger III To Abandon Trip

HOUGHTON (AP)—Gale force winds and high seas forced the National Park Service ferry Ranger III to return to port at Houghton Thursday, canceling a scheduled daily trip to Isle Royale.

It was the first time in the three years that the ship had been in service that it had to abandon a trip. The vessel was built in Escanaba by the T. D. Vinette Co.

David Groves, administrative officer of the National Park Service office at Houghton, said the ferry, carrying 70 passengers, ran into 8 to 10 foot waves and winds of 40 to 50 knots as it neared the end of the Houghton channel and headed out to Lake Superior.

The ship put about and will try to make two trips tomorrow on the 50-mile run, he said.

Only Two-Bathroom Menagerie In Town

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—A home should be a home and not a zoo. But at present I'm running probably the only two-bathroom menagerie in town, and what I need most is an assistant tame animal trainer. The job is wearing me down.

My predicament came about in this manner: Back in 1958 my late wife Frances adopted a black-and-white alley kitten named Lady Dottie on the grounds that our 5-year-old daughter Tracy needed a pet as a companion in order to avoid stunting her emotional growth.

Lady Dottie's gravel box was promptly installed in the front bathroom of our apartment, the one place in the world where until then I could enjoy some privacy.

"Why?" I whined. "Where else could we put her box?" demanded Frances practically.

To Work Late So for 11 years I've been getting to work late because I can't get into the bathroom until the cat finishes her morning ablutions, so to speak.

This year, when school let out in June, Tracy came home lugging a box containing a giant, red-eyed, white rabbit named Aphrodite.

"The biology teacher said that if one of the students didn't keep Aphrodite over the summer she'd have to be put to sleep forever," explained Tracy. "I couldn't stand for that to happen."

"Where are you going to put her?" I asked. "In our back bathroom."

"Why?" I whined, as I had 11 years before. "Because Lady Dottie has the front bathroom," explained Tracy, as if she were speaking to a retarded adult. "Everyone knows that cats and rabbits don't like to share the same bathroom."

Soon after Aphrodite was installed, Tracy blithely took off on a vacation trip to Rome, leaving me the task of providing food and maintaining law and order in our two-bathroom menagerie.

Red-Eyed Rabbit It is quite a chore, and I am getting red-eyed myself taking care of a red-eyed rabbit and a green-eyed cat.

Aphrodite seems to be in love with Lady Dottie, but Lady Dottie is jealous and hates the very floor the rabbit hops upon. By day she is also somewhat afraid of the big white rabbit, but at night she paws endlessly at the closed bathroom door sheltering Aphrodite.

At first I was haunted by fears that Aphrodite might be in a family way and I'd have to act as an impromptu midwife for a rabbit. Fortunately, she turned out to be a chaste maiden, and so I haven't had to tell her to go and never darken my bathroom door again.

Once a week I take Aphrodite for a stroll on the apartment lawn below. When it's time to return, whooping neighborhood kids help me recapture her in Manhattan's only regular one-rabbit roundup.

Pink Elephants My vegetable bill has tripled. Each morning at 5 o'clock

Aphrodite gets hungry and starts thumping on the tin bathroom waste basket—her breakfast signal.

The other evening the neighbor beneath us rapped at my door.

"If you must practice on your bongo drum in the bathroom," he said politely, "couldn't you do it a bit later in the day?"

"That's not a bongo drum," I replied, embarrassed. "That's just Aphrodite, our red-eyed white rabbit."

Looking at me oddly as he began backing away, the neighbor said: "Well, old chap, I'm afraid if you start keeping pink elephants in your bathroom, we'll have to move."

And I'm afraid that if Tracy doesn't come home soon her welcome home dish, when she does return, will be a big steaming plate of hasenpfeffer, once known as Aphrodite.

The United States regained the world record for payload-carrying July 30, 1939, when Maj. C. V. Haynes and Capt. W. D. Old flew a Boeing B-15 to 8,200 feet with a payload of 15 and one-half tons, at Wright Field, Ohio.

New Single-Family Homes Average $26,000

By ANDY LANG

From various sources come these bits of information of interest to the home owner.

The median price of new single-family houses throughout the country is now close to $26,000 and is expected to go higher in the next few months. Houses costing $25,000 and up account for nearly 37 per cent of all sales. Homes with three bedrooms remain the most popular, accounting for 56 per cent of sales. Those with four or more bedrooms captured 23 per cent of the market, with the one and two-bedroom dwellings at 21 per cent.

A construction company that admits in its advertising that you have to be affluent to buy one of its chaletes in New Hope, Pa., provides a complete recreation, entertainment and sports package for residents, with one and two-bedroom units costing up to $33,000—and these are just "second" homes. A plastics company in Ridgefield, N. J., comes up with the interesting conclusion that the sales of garden hoses increase greatly where there is plenty of rain, since home owners with lush green lawns want to keep them that way.

The development of mobile home parks is expected to rise sharply now that the Department of Housing and Urban Development has drastically eased its mortgage insurance regulations on such establishments, permitting longer periods for repayment of loans and insuring mortgages up to 90 per cent of value instead of the previous 75 per cent. A female realtor in Anchorage, Alaska, has increased her listings considerably by pointing out to sellers that, when they permit their houses to be seen only at night, the chances of sales are reduced greatly, whereas when she handles property, it gets a minimum of 12 hours exposure every day.

While questions about the effects of condensation, especially on windows and walls, have dominated reader mail for years, the leadership has recently been taken over by queries about the use of clear finishing materials on wood surfaces.

The selection of a reliable contractor to do major remodeling work in your home is not always easy, but it's a good idea to steer clear of companies or individuals who suggest ways of bypassing local building codes and who tell you that it isn't necessary to obtain building permits because nobody will know the difference. Incidentally, one of the values of having a knowledge of home construction and repair is that, even if you do not do the work yourself, you can conduct a knowledgeable discussion with a contractor when a project is under consideration.

New Products On Builders' Market

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

What's new on the market?

THE PRODUCT—A new style window screen that can be easily installed on any size double-hung wood window.

THE MANUFACTURER'S CLAIM—That this screen is charcoal-colored fiber glass screening that is almost invisible when installed and is guaranteed not to shrink, stretch or discolor . . . that it is available in most standard window sizes, but can be altered quickly if necessary to fit an odd-sized window . . . that hardware and instructions are furnished with each screen and that only a hammer is needed for installation . . . and that the screening material is glare free.

THE PRODUCT—A 3-inch brush-and-tray set featuring a special wheel that guides the brush along trim areas.

THE MANUFACTURER'S CLAIM—That professional results can be obtained by the novice when working from open areas into corners and when edging or trimming without getting paint on adjoining surfaces . . . that the brush has nylon fibers for latex and oil paints and foam base cushions that apply paint to irregularly shaped surfaces . . . and that the pads are replaceable.

THE PRODUCT—A hedge trimmer that fits into any quarter-inch portable electric drill.

THE MANUFACTURER'S CLAIM—That the trimmer can be attached in seconds with a new slide-lock . . . that it has a 14-inch blade to trim wide areas with each stroke . . . that its long handle locks at 10 different angles for convenient use . . . and that it can be handled easily by women.

THE PRODUCT—A self-adjusting ratchet nut driver with a three-way shift selector.

THE MANUFACTURER'S CLAIM—That the tempered steel hex sockets of the tool adjust automatically to all sizes of nuts from one-quarter of an inch to 7/16ths . . . that the shift selector located on the shaft enables the direction of drive forward, reversed or locked to be controlled by thumb pressure . . . that the nut driver has a corrosion-proof internal mechanism, including tempered steel springs . . . and that its handle conforms to the hand for a comfortable grip.

THE PRODUCT—A special black paint for use on barbecues, stoves, hibachis and all outdoor and indoor grills, hoods and burners.

THE MANUFACTURER'S CLAIM—That this paint is dispensed in an aerosol can for easy use on fire-damaged or scorched equipment around the home . . . that it is non-toxic and safe to use . . . and that it can withstand heat to 1,000 degrees Fahrenheit.

(For Andy Lang's helpful booklet, "Paint Your House Inside and Out," send 25 cents and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Know-How, P. O. Box 477, Huntington, N. Y. 11743.)

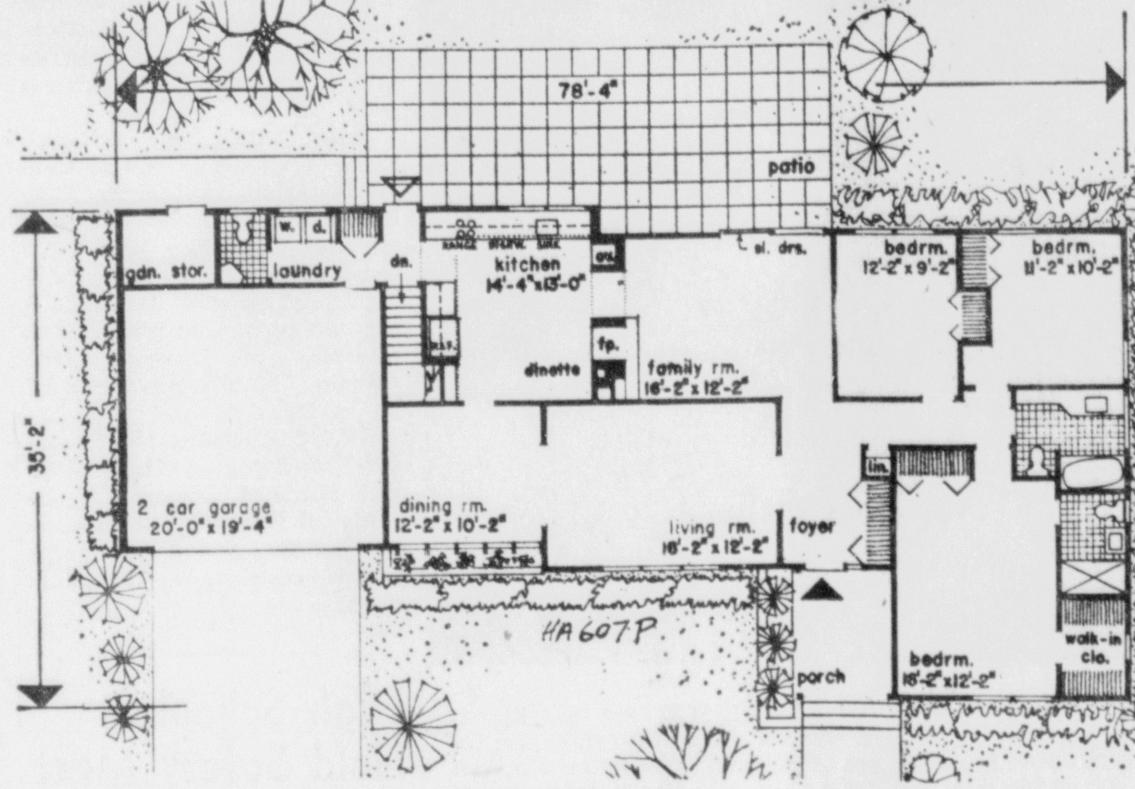

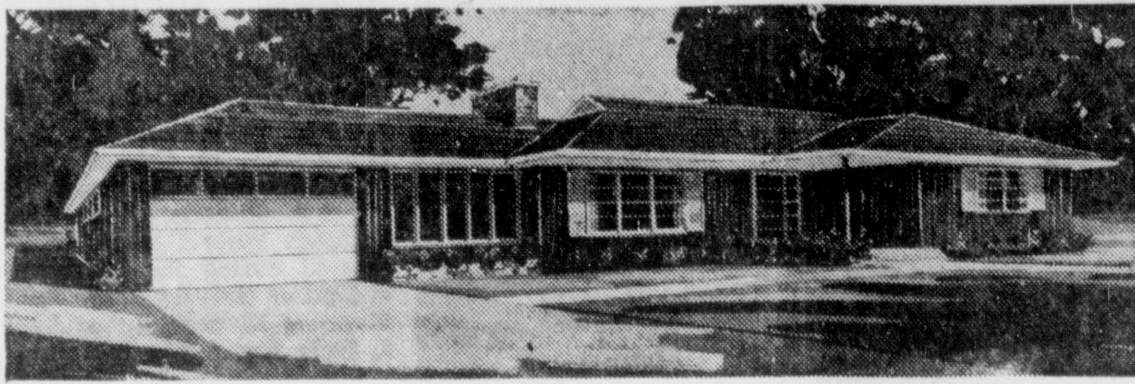

(The window screen is manufactured by Virginia Iron and Metal Co., Richmond, Va.; the brush-and-tray set by Paintmaster, New York; the hedge trimmer by Arco Tools, New York; the nut driver by Vaco Products Co., Chicago; and the barbecue paint by the N. Y. Bronze Powder Co., Elizabeth, N. J.)

Body In Attic

DETROIT (AP)—Police in Detroit are seeking an 18-year-old youth for questioning in the death of Larry Wright, 17, whose body was found Wednesday in the bloodstained attic of a Detroit house.

Wright had been missing since Aug. 1. Police are seeking the youth last seen by a witness driving away in Wright's car.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

THE LONG, LOW lines of this modest sized ranch house (1,660 square feet of living space) give it a larger look. A two-way red brick fireplace, reminiscent of the kitchen hearth of early American days, divides the family room from the kitchen, but is so low that the two rooms blend into one. A sloped beamed ceiling runs across both rooms. The exterior can be redwood, cedar or regular painted siding. There are shutters on the living room and main bedroom windows but not on the large casement windows of the dining room. Plan HA607P, called Elinore, was designed by Samuel Paul, 89-30 161st St., Jamaica, N. Y.

Wind And Waves Cause Ranger III To Abandon Trip

HOUGHTON — (AP) — Gale force winds and high seas forced the National Park Service ferry Ranger III to return to port at Houghton Thursday, canceling a scheduled daily trip to Isle Royale.

It was the first time in the three years that the ship had been in service that it had to abandon a trip. The vessel was built in Escanaba by the T. D. Vinette Co.

David Groves, administrative officer of the National Park Service office at Houghton, said the ferry, carrying 70 passengers, ran into 8 to 10 foot waves and winds of 40 to 50 knots as it neared the end of the Houghton channel and headed out to Lake Superior.

The ship put about and will try to make two trips tomorrow on the 50-mile run, he said.

Only Two-Bathroom Menagerie In Town

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — A home should be a home and not a zoo. But at present I'm running probably the only two-bathroom menagerie in town, and what I need most is an assistant tame animal trainer. The job is wearing me down.

My predicament came about in this manner:

Back in 1958 my late wife Frances adopted a black-and-white alley kitten named Lady Dottie on the grounds that our 5-year-old daughter Tracy needed a pet as a companion in order to avoid stunting her emotional growth.

Lady Dottie's gravel box was promptly installed in the front bathroom of our apartment, the one place in the world where until then I could enjoy some privacy.

"Why?" I whined. "Where else could we put her box?" demanded Frances practically.

To Work Late

So for 11 years I've been getting to work late because I can't get into the bathroom until the cat finishes her morning ablutions, so to speak.

This year, when school let out in June, Tracy came home lugging a box containing a giant, red-eyed, white rabbit named Aphrodite.

"The biology teacher said that if one of the students didn't keep Aphrodite over the summer she'd have to be put to sleep forever," explained Tracy. "I couldn't stand for that to happen."

"Where are you going to put her?" I asked. "In our back bathroom."

"Why?" I whined, as I had 11 years before. "Because Lady Dottie has the front bathroom," explained Tracy, as if she were speaking to a retarded adult. "Everyone knows that cats and rabbits don't like to share the same bathroom."

Soon after Aphrodite was installed, Tracy blithely took off on a vacation trip to Rome, leaving me the task of providing food and maintaining law and order in our two-bathroom menagerie.

Red-Eyed Rabbit

It is quite a chore, and I am getting red-eyed myself taking care of a red-eyed rabbit and a green-eyed cat.

Aphrodite seems to be in love with Lady Dottie, but Lady Dottie is jealous and hates the very floor the rabbit hops upon. By day she is also somewhat afraid of the big white rabbit, but at night she paws endlessly at the closed bathroom door sheltering Aphrodite.

At first I was haunted by fears that Aphrodite might be in a family way and I'd have to act as an impromptu midwife for a rabbit. Fortunately, she turned out to be a chaste maiden, and so I haven't had to tell her to go and never darken my bathroom door again.

Once a week I take Aphrodite for a stroll on the apartment lawn below. When it's time to return, whooping neighborhood kids help me recapture her in Manhattan's only regular one-rabbit roundup.

New Single-Family Homes Average $26,000

By ANDY LANG

From various sources come these bits of information of interest to the home owner.

The median price of new single-family houses throughout the country is now close to $26,000 and is expected to go higher in the next few months. Houses costing $25,000 and up account for nearly 37 per cent of all sales. Homes with three bedrooms remain the most popular, accounting for 56 per cent of sales. Those with four or more bedrooms captured 23 per cent of the market, with the one and two-bedroom dwellings at 21 per cent.

A construction company that admits in its advertising that you have to be affluent to buy one of its chaletes in New Hope, Pa., provides a complete recreation, entertainment and sports package for residents, with one and two-bedroom units costing up to $33,000—and these are just "second" homes. A plastics company in Ridgefield, N. J., comes up with the interesting conclusion that the sales of garden hoses increase greatly where there is plenty of rain, since home owners with lush green lawns want to keep them that way.

The development of mobile home parks is expected to rise sharply now that the Department of Housing and Urban Development has drastically eased its mortgage insurance regulations on such establishments, permitting longer periods for repayment of loans and insuring mortgages up to 90 per cent of value instead of the previous 75 per cent. A female realtor in Anchorage, Alaska, has increased her listings considerably by pointing out to sellers that, when they permit their houses to be seen only at night, the chances of sales are reduced greatly, whereas when she handles property, it gets a minimum of 12 hours exposure every day.

While questions about the effects of condensation, especially on windows and walls, have dominated reader mail for years, the leadership has recently been taken over by queries about the use of clear finishing materials on wood surfaces.

The selection of a reliable contractor to do major remodeling work in your home is not always easy, but it's a good idea to steer clear of companies or individuals who suggest ways of bypassing local building codes and who tell you that it isn't necessary to obtain building permits because nobody will know the difference. Incidentally, one of the values of having a knowledge of home construction and repair is that, even if you do not do the work yourself, you can conduct a knowledgeable discussion with a contractor when a project is under consideration.

FLOOR PLANS: Despite a difference in levels, the rooms of the main living area are so located that ready access is possible between both the formal and informal rooms without sacrifices to privacy. Note fireplaces in both living and family rooms.

SPLIT LEVEL with a somewhat different front appearance is created by simplification of the roof ridge lines so that there are no abrupt changes of the kind sometimes seen in this type of house. Windows under second floor roof have Colonial details.

Split Has Farmhouse Look

FIREPLACED LIVING ROOM, three steps up from the entrance foyer, is set off by attractive wrought iron railing. The dining room and the kitchen-dinette are on the same level.

By ANDY LANG

Since the early days of the split level house, architects have had difficulty with the exterior design. Several floor levels often made for unattractive roof lines. Somebody once observed that one type of split level house looked like two houses in a head-on collision.

Architect Herman H. York solves this problem neatly by placing the entrance doorway on grade level, adding a portico and carrying the cornice line of the portico across the garage, thereby tying two-thirds of the front into what appears to be a single unit. To further simplify the roof line, he locates the living room wing in a position which puts the roof of the garage, portico and living room into one plane. This not only adds to the attractiveness of the exterior but also reduces the amount of flashing required.

The dominant feature of the front elevation is the gabled second floor roof facing the street. The gable has been given the benefit of Colonial detailed window heads and a dove cote box near the ridge. Complementing these features are the softly arched bays of the portico with their chamfered edges and the three wood panels under the triple living room window. Two chimneys, detailed in typical Williamsburg tradition, add warmth to the exterior. All in all, although this is a split level house, it has a farmhouse atmosphere.

Inside, there is one design feature that merits special attention. The levels are unequally divided, putting only a three-riser difference between the living room and the family room. This means that very little stair climbing is necessary between the two parts of the house in which the great travel occurs. The larger number of steps is between the living room and the bedrooms, a much less traveled route.

There are actually four distinct living areas — two formal and two informal. A large living room, a library, a spacious family room and, upstairs, a family hobby studio all cater to the needs of today's active family. The family room is placed at the rear, on grade and with sliding glass doors to the patio, accessible from the kitchen a few steps away.

The plumbing for all floors is grouped closely, with three bedrooms, the laundry, bar and kitchen all within a very short distance of the stack. A large yet efficient kitchen, with an attractive dining bay, is the control point, serving not only the dining room but the family room and rear yard.

Upstairs, in addition to three bedrooms, two bathrooms and two walk-in closets, a family "hobby studio" is set a few steps above the hall. This room serves as an ideal area for any one or several interests and, because of its secluded location, can be left in whatever condition is convenient. In an unfinished state, it can be completed later by the owner as a do-it-yourself project.

Carefully planned — on the outside for visual satisfaction, on the inside for practical living — Design S-5 packs a lot of house within the over-all dimensions of 66' 4" by 36' 8".

S-5 STATISTICS

Design S-5 has a living room, dining room, kitchen-dinette, library, family room, laundry, lavatory and foyer on the main levels, with a total habitable area of 1282 square feet. Three bedrooms, two bathrooms and a hobby area on the second floor add up to 1004 square feet. There is a two-car garage with a closet and storage space. A basement is below the living-dining-kitchen area. Over-all dimensions, which include the garage, are 66' 4" by 36' 8".

Tile Ideas

Q—I got a good tip from one of your recent columns, so I am passing one on to your readers. I recently put down resilient floor tiles on our kitchen floors. I had 15 tiles left over. Instead of putting all of them away for possible future replacements, I made six place mats and an equal number of coasters. I've saved three as replacement tiles, even though I don't think I'll need them, as I installed a similar floor in the basement seven years ago and all the tiles are still good. A—Thanks.

Door Clearance

Q—I am making a storage closet under the stairs in our basement. I am using three-quarter-inch plywood. How far from the top, bottom and sides should the doors be?

A—About 1/16th of an inch at the top and sides; about one-quarter of an inch at the bottom.

Decorate Garage To Be Different

By VIVIAN BROWN

Here's a way to set your house apart from others in your block: decorate your garage doors. A daisy, maybe?

Lots of people are doing their "own thing" painting doors in any design from Mondrian to landscapes. One avant garde couple has a super size art painting on their doors which is floodlighted at night. On another garage door, fluorescent tape is used to outline a checkered pattern or block design. One might prefer the bullseye barn-door pattern or some of the hex signs used on Pennsylvania barns.

The trend to garage door decorating has been observed more and more by salesmen who have been trying to sell automatic garage door opener systems. In addition to styling tricks, they found custom-made doors with elaborate Moorish patterns and doors of knotty pine paneling adaptable to early American homes. Meanwhile, the eagle-eyed salesmen were plugging the genie opener (for the Alliance Manufacturing Company.)

One design trend in particular, they point out, is the use of wooden and aluminum motifs that has been designed to be put on the door in a jiffy. Handsome geese in flight, stylized horses, swans, flamingos, lanterns, and antique moldings are going to garage doors. There are hardwood molding designs — boxes, borders, diamonds, chevrons and so on.

The design trend may have been abetted by Joe Wilde of Milwaukee, Wis., who makes such design motifs. He had been a lumber and garage door dealer, and got bored looking at the same old doors. When the flush door was introduced, he decided to liven the doors with designs. The door is flat enough to be fitted with one of the designs so that it still may be shut.

Forest Sprayed To Control Bugs

A 90 acre red pine plantation on the Rapid River Ranger District was aerially sprayed Thursday to control a Saratoga Spittlebug infestation according to Evans Lutz, Hiawatha National Forest Timber and Wildlife Officer.

"Originally we thought we would have to treat 205 acres in three different plantations, but nature controlled the Spittlebug in two of the plantations leaving only this one plantation to treat," Lutz added. A nymphal survey last month and a "sweep survey" this week confirmed the need to chemically treat the area.

Malathion at the rate of 10 ounces per acre was used. Malathion is not a persistent pesticide and does not build up in the food chain as DDT does but begins to break down almost immediately, Lutz said. The Hiawatha National Forest has not used DDT since 1962 and has since banned the use of all "hard" pesticides, he added.

Lutz said that foresters prefer to have nature control insect populations but occasionally chemical control of insect populations is used only as a last resort, he added.

The Hiawatha National Forest has not aerially treated any insect outbreaks since 1962 and hopes that it will be another seven years until it is needed again. "It would be real nice if we never had to chemically treat a plantation again," Lutz concluded.

Two Arraigned For Theft Of Copper Tubing

Two Escanaba young men were in District Court today for appearance in connection with charges of larceny and breaking and entering.

They're William Spaulding 21, of 2318 1st Ave. S., and Steven C. Larson, 17, of Old State Road.

Escanaba police reported they were arrested on Aug. 6 in connection with the theft of copper tubing from the Four Seasons Nursing Home at construction project at 2500 5th Ave. S. Damage at the project totaled about $1,600, officers said.

The two are also facing charges of breaking and entering the Southside Gas Station at Lincoln Rd. and 8th Ave. S., where $110 was taken, of which nearly $40 was recovered by police.

Gravelle Gets Scholarship

MARQUETTE — Three Upper Peninsula students who will be freshmen this fall at Northern Michigan University have been named initial recipients of NMU Board of Control Music Scholarships.

Recipients of the $390 scholarships are John Gravelle, Escanaba; Naomi Wiele, Ironwood; and Susan Lenten, Negaunee.

Gravelle, who will enroll in the liberal arts curriculum, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Gravelle, 704 S. 16th St.

Council Calls For Curbs On Careless Drivers

Kids on motorbikes on airport runways and motorists who practice careless parking in the city came in for Council criticism Thursday night.

Mayor Cecil B. Chase directed attention to the hazards of motorbike riders on the runways at the airport, and cited an incident in which a plane had to recircle before landing to avoid an accident. It's dangerous for the people in the plane and riders on the ground, he said.

The responsibility is that of the parents, he added. There will be arrests and prosecutions unless parents keep their children off the runways, the mayor said.

Councilman Edward J. Cox and Mayor Chase agreed on an allied subject: Careless motorists who park over the yellow lines and use up two parking spaces, or park so closely to the next vehicle that the other driver cannot get into his car. City Attorney John G. Erickson advised the Council to have the meter maid issue parking violation tickets under city ordinance.

Mrs. E. Martin Dies Thursday

Mrs. Edgar Martin, 53, of 5999 Maybourn, Dearborn, died on Thursday. She was the former Olga Rajala of Rock and was a 1933 graduate of the Rock High School.

She is survived by her husband; one daughter, Linda, and two grandchildren; two sisters, Mrs. Frank (Eileen) Christenson of Chicago and Mrs. Katherine Humphrey of California; two brothers, John and Aino of Flint.

Funeral services and burial will be held Saturday in Dearborn.

Briefly Told

The Pine Forest Women's Volleyball club will not meet Tuesday, August 12.

Troopers issued a traffic citation Thursday to Dwaine Valiquette, Rte. 1, Gladstone, for speeding.

Traffic court notices have been issued by Escanaba police to Nancy St. Onge, 225 S. 25th St., improper turn; and to David E. Klekamp, 331 N. 11th St., failing to exercise due care.

Escanaba police report that two juveniles have been referred to probate court after they admitted to officers they cashed four checks totaling $145 after forging the signature of Jerry Collins, 1600 N. 18th St. The checks had been stolen from the mail.

Clarence Raeder of Escanaba, commander of AMVETS Post 123, Escanaba, is one of nine Upper Peninsula men who will attend the 25th anniversary National Convention of the organization Aug. 10-17 at Detroit. He will serve on the Housing Committee at the convention.

David Kasiatek, 17, of 1608 S. 15th St., is to appear in District Court at 10 a.m. Monday for appearance on a charge of malicious destruction of property, after posting bond on Thursday. He was arrested by Escanaba police on a warrant signed by a citizen following an incident in which a window was broken at the Burger Chef on Aug. 5.

Lawrence Guenette, 22, Rte. 1, Escanaba, escaped injury when a deer ran out in front of his car at 4:15 p.m. Thursday on County Rd. C-21 just west of County Rd. 533, Wells Township. State Police reported that the right front of Guenette's car suffered heavy damage, but the auto remained driveable.

All members of the Escanaba Area High School Marching Band are asked to attend a meeting in the high school band room at 8 a.m. Monday. The marching band will begin practice for half-time appearances at Escanaba football games, and for their appearance at the airport dedication and labor day festivities. Director John Chown announced that everyone is expected to attend the rehearsals.

THE U. P. FAIR will open Tuesday, Aug. 12 and the 4-H Club section is one of the major attractions, as usual, with thousands of exhibitors coming from all parts of the Peninsula. In the 4-H Dining hall on the fairgrounds (left) Dale Ford and Ray Schultz of Cornell set up for display a project prepared by John Schultz, 13. The dining hall will be the center of activities throughout the week, with the dairy banquet scheduled for Tuesday evening. In preparation for the opening of the hall (top) tables are placed and other arrangements made to feed the scores of boys and girls who stay at the fair with their livestock. (Daily Press Photo)

Northern Pike Top Attraction

According to Kenneth Berg, conservation executive for the Department of Natural Resources, local anglers are having best success fishing for northern pike.

"We've had reports of only fair trout fishing," Berg said. "But the pike are really beginning to hit above Gladstone, south of the Ford River mouth, and in Ogontz Bay off the mouth of the Fishdam River."

Berg said that Rapala and Dardevil lures appear to be the most productive pike-getters with live bait a close second.

Lake trout fishing continues to be a successful adventure near Munising.

"The West Channel and the Pictured Rocks areas are producing some nice catches," reports Berg. "There is also some fine laker fishing in Marquette and Big Bay," he added.

Berg said that walleye fishing is starting to pick up in Little Bay de Noc, a very encouraging report for local anglers. Also encouraging is the good perch fishing that conservation officers have reported in both Little and Big Bays de Noc.

Taylor Peterson Heads Advisory Board Of Bank

Taylor N. Peterson, Escanaba native and former mayor of Ontario, Calif., has been named chairman of the Advisory Board of Directors at Bank of America's Ontario branch.

He has resided in Ontario 39 years and has been a member of the Bank of America's Advisory Board more than 30 years. Peterson served two terms as mayor of Ontario from 1941-45. He resides with his wife, Grace, the former Mrs. August Lundgaard of Cornell, at Upland, Calif.

Peterson is a brother of Mrs. Lee Lee, Mrs. Ray Taylor and George Peterson of Escanaba. Before leaving about 45 years ago he was engaged in the shoe retail business here.

The main defendant, Nguyen Van Can, 23, an army deserter, and two other men were given life sentences. The women received sentences ranging from one to five years. Those receiving lighter sentences were accused only of not reporting the plots to authorities.

Players Hold 'Mame' Tryouts

The Players de Noc will hold their final tryouts for their upcoming production of "Mame" tonight from 7 to 9:30 p.m. at the Community College. All parts are still open, and men are especially needed.

"Mame" will be presented by the Players on Sept. 29 and 30, and Oct. 2, 3, and 4 at the Escanaba High School Auditorium.

Mental Health Plan To Begin

Residents of northern Menominee County will have available to them "on-the-spot" mental health services beginning Aug. 18, according to Theodore L. Ver Haagh, ACSW, executive director of the Marinette and Menominee Mental Health Service, Marinette.

This service is a cooperative venture in responding to community mental health needs. It involves Community Action (an information and referral agency) of Spalding, and the Menominee Workshop at Hermansville, an Easter Seal sponsored facility.

Beginning Aug. 18, and every two weeks thereafter, Erlend L. Hyttinen, ACSW, chief psychiatric social worker at the Mental Health Service, will be at the Workshop to provide information, consultation, services, etc. to those people in need of mental health services.

Office space for interview purposes is being provided by the Menominee Workshop. Referrals for this special service will be accepted by Mrs. Shirley Ozus at her Community Action offices at the Spalding Township Fire Hall.

Hyttinen will be working closely with schools, public health department, clergy, family doctors, and other resources in this area and they will be included in his itinerary.

The availability of a mental health consultant in a field office in Hermansville will expedite and facilitate not only the assessment and evaluation of individuals mental health needs, but the choice of treatment for those persons who now find it difficult to get to Marinette for their initial, or intake interview, Ver Haagh said.

police records at the crime center. The prosecutor said he would oppose the motions.

Collins' legal bills will be paid by the county. In the past it has been the practice that the original privately retained attorneys would not be selected by the court in such cases.

However, Francis indicated after the Thursday morning hearing that he regretted leaving the case.

John wanted me to remain on the case," the young attorney said. "We've developed a rapport—like war buddies. We've been through this together."

"I am very emotionally and personally involved in this case," said the 1968 graduate of the University of Michigan law school. He said with the county paying expenses, Collins' defense will be better prepared.

Extra Rights
"This will give him the right to a lot of things, such as the court paying for independent blood tests, ballistic tests and fingerprint analysis."

"It appears the prosecution will attempt to present a lot of this kind of thing as evidence," Francis said.

Francis described his client as a normal young man.

"I found him to be a very nice boy and very cooperative," Francis said.

"He certainly understands what is happening to him in this case. He is not psychotic in my opinion, but seems to be a normal 22-year-old young man who is under stress."

Asked if psychiatric tests would be ordered by the defense for Collins, Francis replied: "Quite possibly. I want to find out as much as possible about him."

Michigan police officials have gone to Phoenix, Ariz., to participate in extradition proceedings against a friend of Collins, Andrew Manuel, 25.

However, Federal Defender Thomas Karas, Manuel's court-appointed attorney, said in Phoenix Thursday night that no one including authorities from Michigan or California, would be allowed to talk to Manuel.

U. S. Marshal J. Pat Madrid said California authorities have formally requested permission to question Manuel but that the request was denied. Madrid said Michigan authorities were also expected in Phoenix and that they, too, would be barred from questioning Manuel at the request of Karas.

GLADSTONE Area Youths Winners At Summer Olympics

The girls softball team and the boys junior high softball team both won first place in their division at the Summer Olympics staged at Iron Mountain on Aug. 1. Bob Prins and John Krout won first in their age group in golf.

Approximately 90 youngsters competed in the games and Community School Director Robert Richards said the students represented Gladstone very well and were a real credit to the community as good citizens. He said one of the reasons for participation in these games is to foster good relations with other communities. He said while the competitors play to win the students are also meeting new friends and renewing old acquaintances.

Other groups placing in the events were the senior boys softball team who took second place and both the baseball team and the T-ball teams finished third. Chris Peterson took third place in archery and Greg Sundalus third in golf.

All participants were members of either the Community School program under the direction of Robert Richards or the recreation department directed by Don Potenbauer.

Skinner Quits As Phils Pilot

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Richie Allen, controversial slugger for the Philadelphia Phillies, now has the scalps of two managers to his credit.

Bob Skinner, grim-faced and his voice cracking at times, resigned Thursday after 14 months at the club's helm because of what he called lack of front office support in dealing with the moody Allen.

Coach George Myatt, 54, in his sixth year with the Phillies, was named temporary manager for the remainder of the season.

Gene Mauch, whom Skinner had succeeded in June, 1968, was fired after bench Allen.

"Now I know what Gene Mauch went through," Skinner said, biting off each word as the club's bosses—owner Bob Carpenter and General Manager John Quinn—stood silently to one side at a news conference.

Skinner, visibly shaken, also revealed that he had learned that a fine he had imposed on Allen for missing two games in New York in June had been re-imposed by Carpenter.

Allen could not be reached for comment.

Forest Sprayed To Control Bugs

A 90 acre red pine plantation on the Rapid River Ranger District was aerially sprayed Thursday to control a Saratoga Spittlebug infestation according to Evans Lutz, Hiawatha National Forest Timber and Wildlife Officer.

This plantation was treated in order to prevent severe deformation and further tree mortality.

"Originally we thought we would have to treat 205 acres in three different plantations, but nature controlled the Spittlebug in two of the plantations leaving only this one plantation to treat," Lutz added. A nymphal survey last month and a "sweep survey" this week confirmed the need to chemically treat the area.

Malathion at the rate of 10 ounces per acre was used. Malathion is not a persistent pesticide and does not build up in the food chain as DDT does but begins to break down almost immediately, Lutz said. The Hiawatha National Forest has not used DDT since 1962 and has since banned the use of all "hard" pesticides, he added.

Lutz said that foresters prefer to have nature control insect populations but occasionally nature requires a little help. Chemical control of insect populations is used only as a last resort, he added.

The Hiawatha National Forest has not aerially treated any insect outbreaks since 1962 and hopes that it will be another seven years until it is needed again. "It would be real nice if we never had to chemically treat a plantation again," Lutz concluded.

Two Arraigned For Theft Of Copper Tubing

Two Escanaba young men were in District Court today for appearance in connection with charges of larceny and breaking and entering.

They're William Spaulding 21, of 2318 1st Ave. S., and Steven C. Larson, 17, of Old State Road.

Escanaba police reported they were arrested on Aug. 6 in connection with the theft of copper tubing from the Four Seasons Nursing Home construction project at 2500 5th Ave. S. Damage at the project totaled about $1,600, officers said.

The two are also facing charges of breaking and entering the Southside Gas Station at Lincoln Rd. and 8th Ave. S., where $110 was taken, of which nearly $40 was recovered by police.

Gravelle Gets Scholarship

MARQUETTE — Three Upper Peninsula students who will be freshmen this fall at Northern Michigan University have been named initial recipients of NMU Board of Control Music Scholarships.

Recipients of the $390 scholarships are John Gravelle, Escanaba; Naomi Wiele, Ironwood; and Susan Lenten, Negaunee.

Gravelle, who will enroll in the liberal arts curriculum, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Gravelle, 704 S. 16th St.

Council Calls For Curbs On Careless Drivers

Kids on motorbikes on airport runways and motorists who practice careless parking in the city came in for Council criticism Thursday night.

Mayor Cecil B. Chase directed attention to the hazards of motorbike riders on the runways at the airport, and cited an incident in which a plane had to recircle before landing to avoid an accident. It's dangerous for the people in the plane and riders on the ground, he said.

The responsibility is that of the parents, he added. There will be arrests and prosecutions unless parents keep their children off the runways, the mayor said.

Councilman Edward J. Cox and Mayor Chase agreed on an allied subject: Careless motorists who park over the yellow lines and use up two parking spaces, or park so closely to the next vehicle that the other driver cannot get into his car.

City Attorney John G. Erickson advised the Council to have the meter maid issue parking violation tickets under city ordinance.

Mrs. E. Martin Dies Thursday

Mrs. Edgar Martin, 53, of 5999 Mayburn, Dearborn, died on Thursday. She was the former Olga Rajala of Rock and was a 1933 graduate of the Rock High School.

She is survived by her husband; one daughter, Linda, and two grandchildren; two sisters, Mrs. Frank (Eileen) Christenson of Chicago and Mrs. Katherine Humphrey of California; two brothers, John and Alno of Flint.

Funeral services and burial will be held Saturday in Dearborn.

Briefly Told

The Pine Forest Women's Volleyball club will not meet Tuesday, August 12.

Troopers issued a traffic citation Thursday to Dwayne Valiquette, Rte. 1, Gladstone, for speeding.

Traffic court notices have been issued by Escanaba police to Nancy St. Onge, 225 S. 25th St., improper turn; and to David E. Klekamp, 331 N. 11th St., failing to exercise due care.

Escanaba police report that two juveniles have been referred to probate court after they admitted to officers they cashed four checks totaling $145 after forging the signature of Jerry Collins, 1600 N. 18th St. The checks had been stolen from the mail.

Clarence Raeder of Escanaba, commander of AMVETS Post 123, Escanaba, is one of nine Upper Peninsula men who will attend the 25th anniversary National Convention of the organization Aug. 10-17 at Detroit. He will serve on the Housing Committee at the convention.

David Kaziateck, 17, of 1608 S. 15th St., is to appear in District Court at 10 a.m. Monday for appearance on a charge of malicious destruction of property, after posting bond on Thursday. He was arrested by Escanaba police on a warrant signed by a citizen following an incident in which a window was broken at the Burger Chef on Aug. 5.

Lawrence Guenette, 22, Rte. 1, Escanaba, escaped injury when a deer ran out in front of his car at 4:15 p.m. Thursday on County Rd. C-21 just west of County Rd. 533, Wells Township. State Police reported that the right front of Guenette's car suffered heavy damage, but the auto remained driveable.

All members of the Escanaba Area High School Marching Band are asked to attend a meeting in the high school band room at 8 a.m. Monday. The marching band will begin practice for half-time appearances at Escanaba football games, and for their appearance at the airport dedication and labor day festivities. Director John Chown announced that everyone is expected to attend the rehearsals.

Martin Trails By Three Shots In U.P. Golf

MENOMINEE — High winds ripping off Lake Michigan sent scores soaring in the Upper Peninsula Men's Golf Association amateur tournament Tuesday, shaking up the leaders as the field headed into the third round today.

Kolosar won medalist honors, beating Hruska with a birdie four on the first hole of a play-off.

Bill Smith, 22-year-old defending champion from Sault Ste. Marie, faltered to a 76 in the 30 to 45 mph winds and dropped one stroke back at 146. He was tied with Dr. Jim Strong of Ontonagon, who had a 72 yesterday.

Cap Gravelle of Canadian Sault turned in a 73 for 147 and Jerry Martin of Escanaba Highland and Don Misere of Canadian Sault were bracketed at 148, three strokes off the pace.

Wins Playoff
Kolosar, an 18-year-old power hitter, went out in two-under 34 Thursday and dropped to three-under-par for the day after 15 holes before sagging to bogeys on the final three rounds.

He won the playoff for medalist honors by putting out of a sand trap to within eight inches of the hole and then tapping the ball into the cup for a birdie four on the 483-yard, par five first hole at North Shore. Hruska's second shot carried over the green and he missed his putt for a birdie after chipping short of the hole.

Friels Qualifies

Besides Martin, who had a 75 Thursday to go with his opening round 73, Dave Friels of Highland qualified for the championship flight. Friels turned in a 79 after a first round 75 for 154.

The championship flight was trimmed to the low 18 golfers for the final 36 holes. Three Escanaba golfers qualified for the first flight, Jack Smith of Highland at 156, Dave Erickson of the Country Club at 158 and Bob Turner of the Country Club at 160. George Young of Highland was the lone Escanaba entrant in the second flight. He carded 164.

Dick Knoll of the Country Club at 165, Ward Steimert of Highland at 169, Tom Davis of the Country Club at 169 and Lee Myers of the Country Club at 169 were in the third flight.

Championship flight scores:
Ray Kolosar, Ironwood, 72-73-145
Ken Hruska, Marquette, 73-75-148
Bill Smith, Sault, 76-77-149

Local Softball Teams Beaten

Results Thursday

Negaunee Merchants 4, Ensign 1
Munising Moose-Blatz 7, Perronville 2

Games Tonight

7 - Marquette Suomi Sauna vs. Four Corners
8:30 - Marquette Pat's Bar vs. Gastra Shamrock Bar

The top two teams from the Escanaba district were beaten in the opening round of the Upper Peninsula Class D softball tournament Thursday night at Memorial Field.

Perronville, Class D district winner in Escanaba, fell 7-2 to a 13-hit attack by Munising Moose-Blatz and Ensign, the Escanaba runnerup, was defeated 4-1 by the Negaunee Merchants.

Finals of the 14-team double-elimination tournament are scheduled for 7 p.m. Sunday at Memorial Field.

Negaunee and Ensign were hooked in a pitchers duel until the sixth inning when the Merchants expanded a 1-0 lead to 4-0. A walk, an error and a triple by John Peterson produced a pair of runs and Peterson scored on another error.

Ensign was blanked until the bottom of the sixth when Dale Morin walked, moved up on an error and scored on a sacrifice fly.

Corky Maki was the victim of Ensign's shaky fielding. The first Negaunee run was scored without a hit and the last three on just one. Ron Champion pitched the victory for the Merchants, allowing four hits.

Munising jumped on Perronville starter Jim Gabor for a run in the second on a double and a single, then drove him from the mound in the third with four more hits for three runs. John Petrick worked the rest of the game, allowing three more runs.

Perronville picked up its only runs in the fifth inning on hits by Bartoz, Tom Shiverski and Wanic.

High School Elevens Start Drills Monday

Believe it or not, the Upper Peninsula high school football season will swing into high gear Monday in preparations for season openers just three weeks away.

Coaches in the area have been busy this week passing out equipment and getting the "paperwork" completed so two-day drills can begin.

Informal conditioning programs already are underway. Manistique, attempting to rebound under Coach Rudie Branstrom after 1968's losing season, will be the first of the four major schools in the area to swing into action. The Emeralds tackle Ishpeming at Ishpeming, Friday, Aug. 29.

Holy Name, Escanaba, and Gladstone all will see their first action Saturday, Aug. 30. The Crusaders will open up against Iron Mountain and provide the opposition in the first night game on the Mountaineer field. Installation of lights around the gridiron was completed this week.

Schedule Changed

When work is completed on the Escanaba Athletic Field later this month, all Great Northern Conference teams will have lighted facilities.

Harold Johnson, Escanaba athletic director, announced that schedule changes to night games have been completed for three of Escanaba's four home games. Menominee will open the home season Friday, Sept. 5, with West Iron County scheduled Friday, Sept. 26, and Iron Mountain on Saturday, Oct. 18. The other home game on the Eskymos' schedule, Holy Name, remains a day game under the contract between the two schools.

Games with Menominee and West Iron County were shifted to Friday night from Saturday afternoon. The Iron Mountain game was retained as a Saturday game, but moved back to 8 p.m., in the school's Homecoming program.

Braves Debut

Escanaba will open its season Saturday, Aug. 30, against the Marinette Catholic Central Cavaliers at Marinette at 8 p.m. Gladstone, coming off last year's fine season which saw the Braves bow only to Marquette, will debut under Coach Don Pfothenauer at 2 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 30, at Gwinn.

The Braves and Manistique compete in the Great Lakes Conference along with Ishpeming, Marquette, Munising, Sault Ste. Marie, Newberry and Neegaunee. Escanaba and Holy Name are members of the Great Northern Conference with Menominee, West Iron County, Iron Mountain and Kingsford.

The Eskymos have won the Floyd Barber Trophy as the top high school team in the Upper Peninsula in each of the past two years, compiling a record of 17 wins and one tie.

Timmerman Instant Hero As Pitcher, Bird Lover

DETROIT (AP) — Tom Timmerman picked up an injured bird off the pitching mound and became an instant hero Thursday night.

But the rest of the Detroit Tigers showed no compassion all night as they shelled Minnesota for 13 hits, including nine hits and five runs in the first three innings, and hung on to beat the Twins 6-4.

Six different Tigers knocked in runs, with Al Kaline and Ike Brown hitting homers.

Timmerman, 1-1, who hadn't worked more than two innings since his call-up from Detroit's

Toledo farm club, worked 4 2-3 innings in relief of Earl Wilson to pick up his first major league victory.

Twins Lead Sliced

The loss, coupled with Oakland's earlier win over Cleveland, sliced Minnesota's lead over the Athletics to 2 games in the West Division of the American League. Baltimore clobbered Kansas City 10-2 to remain 15 games up on the Tigers in the East.

Tiger pitching coach Johnny Sain said Timmerman is part of a bullpen, "that works like hell."

"They (relievers) cooperate 100 per cent," he said. "They all can pitch and as they get to work more they'll get better. They've all got a lot going for them and I've got a lot of confidence in them."

Tiger relief pitching, which has been unreliable for much of the season, has turned in some fine performances lately. Don McMahon put out a fire in the eighth Thursday by striking out pinch hitter Chuck Manuel after the bases were loaded with two out and the score 5-4.

Helps Injured Bird

The bird incident occurred at the start of the inning when the injured creature half flew and half ran onto the infield. Timmerman picked it up softly and handed it to an usher as the 17,000 fans cheered.

Consecutive singles by Kaline, Willie Horton and Bill Freehan in the first inning gave Detroit its first run. Then, in the second, Brown hit his second ma-

Detroit got three more runs off starter and loser Jim Kaat, 11-8, in the third. Kaline hit his 13th homer of the year. Then Horton, Freehan and Norm Cash singled to send home another run and Don Wert followed with an RBI double.

Rich Reese put the Twins back in the game in the fourth with a three-run homer off Wilson. It followed a single by Tony Oliva and a walk to Harmon Killebrew. After walking John Roseboro, Smith called for Timmerman.

Millie's Lilies Hold First Place

Millie's Lilies held onto first place and nine women scored 49 or better in Escanaba Country Club women's league play Wednesday.

Betty Gauthier and Gloria Hansley turned in 43, Rosemary LeMire had 44, Doris Kivela 45, Rita Sauers 48 and Lu Berglund, Harriet Fitzharris and Shirley Shomin each had 49.

In the day's event, Honey Joran was closest to the pin on the third hole and Mrs. Gauthier closest to the pin on No. 7.

The standings: Millie's Lilies 51½, Fearless Leaders 50, Ole Yellers 47, Fitz's Witches 40½, The Whips 33½, The Barons 32½, Thirsties 31, The Lanterns 30.

Series 'Crucial' Only To Twins

By The Associated Press
The two teams with the best records in the American League begin a three-game series tonight, but it's only crucial to one of them.

The Baltimore Orioles, runaway leaders by 15 games in the AL East after thrashing Kansas City 10-2 Thursday night, entertain the Minnesota Twins, whose lead over Oakland in the AL West was sliced to two games when they bowed to Detroit 6-4.

"We're still playing against the East Division," said Manager Earl Weaver, whose Orioles have a 76-34 mark, 8½ games better than Minnesota's 68-43. "If they (the Twins) were in our division, or if there were no divisional play this year, it would be a crucial series."

"It's important that we win every game we play, but I don't look on this as a big series. As far as I'm concerned, I'm still looking at Detroit, even though we want to beat Minnesota."

Elsewhere in the AL, Oakland blanked Cleveland 3-0 and Boston rallied to edge Seattle 5-4. California, Chicago, New York and Washington were not scheduled.

The big man for the Orioles was Boog Powell, who drove in four runs with his 30th homer and a single to tie Minnesota's Harmon Killebrew for the major league RBI lead at 101, and Dave McNally, who hurled a five-hitter and belted a two-run homer. Brooks Robinson also homered for the Birds and Ellie Hendricks knocked in three runs.

It marked the 11th consecutive time the Orioles whipped the Royals after dropping the season's first meeting.

Rookie George Lauzeur pitched hitless ball for the first six innings in hurling Oakland past Cleveland. He finally allowed three hits and needed a helping hand from Roland Finger in the eighth.

Dave Nelson's leadoff single in the seventh broke up Lauzeur's no-hit bid.

Reggie Smith's two-out, two-run single capped a three-run rally in the ninth that lifted Boston past Seattle. Starter Fred Talbot homered in the top of the ninth to give the Pilots a 4-2 lead but relievers Bob Locker and John O'Donoghue couldn't protect it.

George Scott led off the ninth with a double, his fourth hit, bringing on Locker. After one out, Dick Schofield singled, scoring Scott, and Mike Andrews also singled. O'Donoghue got the second out, but Oler bobbled Carl Yastrzemski's grounder, filling the bases and setting the stage for Smith.

Young men with a background in mechanical or electrical engineering or experience in mining industry conveyor systems are needed to take positions of responsibility at the C&NW Ore Transfer facility at Escanaba.

Martin Trails By Three Shots In U.P. Golf

MENOMINEE — High winds ripping off Lake Michigan sent scores soaring in the Upper Peninsula Men's Golf Association amateur tournament Tuesday, shaking up the leaders as the field headed into the third round today.

Ray Kolosar of Ironwood and Ken Hruska of Marquette turned in even-par rounds of 72 Thursday to lead the field with 36-hole totals of 145.

Kolosar won medalist honors, beating Hruska with a birdie four on the first hole of a play-off.

Bill Smith, 22-year-old defending champion from Sault Ste. Marie, faltered to a 76 in the 30 to 45 mph winds and dropped one stroke back at 146. He was tied with Dr. Jim Strong of Ontonagon, who had a 72 yesterday.

Cap Gravelle of Canadian Sault turned in a 73 for 147 and Jerry Martin of Escanaba Highland and Don Misere of Canadian Sault were bracketed at 148, three strokes off the pace.

Wins Playoff

Kolosar, an 18-year-old power hitter, went out in two-under 34 Thursday and dropped to three-under-par for the day after 15 holes before sagging to bogeys on the final three rounds.

He won the playoff for medalist honors by putting out of a sand trap to within eight inches of the hole and then tapping the ball into the cup for a birdie four on the 483-yard, par five first hole at North Shore. Hruska's second shot carried over the green and he missed his putt for a birdie after chipping short of the hole.

Friets Qualifies

Besides Martin, who had a 75 Thursday to go with his opening round 73, Dave Friets of Highland qualified for the championship flight. Friets turned in a 79 after a first round 75 for 154.

Tom LeBreche, who fired a 71 at Riverside Country Club in the first round, staggered in with a 79 on his home North Shore course and was five shots off the pace at 150.

Three Escanaba golfers qualified for the first flight, Jack Smith of Highland at 156, Dave Erickson of the Country Club at 158 and Bob Turner of the Country Club at 160. George Young of Highland was the lone Escanaba entrant in the second flight. He carded 164.

Dick Knoll of the Country Club at 165, Ward Steimert of Highland at 169, Tom Davis of the Country Club at 169 and Lee Myers of the Country Club at 169 were in the third flight.

Championship flight scores:

The top two teams from the Escanaba district were beaten in the opening round of the Upper Peninsula Class D softball tournament Thursday night at Memorial Field.

Perronville, Class D district winner in Escanaba, fell 7-2 to a 13-hit attack by Munising Moose-Blatz and Ensign, the Escanaba runnerup, was defeated 4-1 by the Negaunee Merchants.

The Negaunee team was the top entry from the Marquette district.

Finals of the 14-team double-elimination tournament are scheduled for 7 p.m. Sunday at Memorial Field.

Negaunee and Ensign were hooked in a pitchers duel until the sixth inning when the Merchants expanded a 1-0 lead to 4-0. A walk, an error and a triple by John Peterson produced a pair of runs and Peterson scored on another error.

Ensign was blanked until the bottom of the sixth when Dale Morin walked, moved up on an error and scored on a sacrifice fly.

Corky Maki was the victim of Ensign's shaky fielding. The first Negaunee run was scored without a hit and the last three on just one. Ron Champion pitched the victory for the Merchants, allowing four hits.

Munising jumped on Perronville starter Jim Gabor for a run in the second on a double and a single, then drove him from the mound in the third with four more hits for three runs. John Patrick worked the rest of the game, allowing three more runs.

Perronville picked up its only runs in the fifth inning on hits by Bartoz, Tom Shiverski and Wanic.

High School Elevens Start Drills Monday

Believe it or not, the Upper Peninsula high school football season will swing into high gear Monday in preparations for season openers just three weeks away.

Coaches in the area have been busy this week passing out equipment and getting the "paperwork" completed so two-a-day drills can begin.

Manistique, attempting to rebound under Coach Rudie Branstrom after 1968's losing season, will be the first of the four major schools in the area to swing into action. The Emeralds tackle Ishpeming at Ishpeming, Friday, Aug. 29.

Holy Name, Escanaba and Gladstone all will see their first action Saturday, Aug. 30.

The Crusaders will open up against Iron Mountain and provide the opposition in the first night game on the Mountaineer field. Installation of lights around the gridiron was completed this week.

Schedule Changed

When work is completed on the Escanaba Athletic Field later this month, all Great Northern Conference teams will have lighted facilities.

Harold Johnson, Escanaba athletic director, announced that schedule changes to night games have been completed for three of Escanaba's four home games. Menominee will open the home season Friday, Sept. 5, with West Iron County scheduled Friday, Sept. 26, and Iron Mountain on Saturday, Oct. 18.

The other home game on the Eskymos' schedule, Holy Name, remains a day game under the contract between the two schools.

Games with Menominee and West Iron County were shifted to Friday night from Saturday afternoon. The Iron Mountain game was retained as a Saturday game, but moved back to 8 p.m. in the school's Homecoming program.

Braves Debut

Escanaba will open its season Saturday, Aug. 30, against the Marinette Catholic Central Cavaliers at Marinette at 8 p.m. Gladstone, coming off last year's fine season which saw the Braves bow only to Marquette, will debut under Coach Don Potenhauer at 2 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 30, at Gwin.

The Braves and Manistique compete in the Great Lakes Conference along with Ishpeming, Marquette, Munising, Sault Ste. Marie, Newberry and Negaunee. Escanaba and Holy Name are members of the Great Northern Conference with Menominee. West Iron County, Iron Mountain and Kingsford.

The Eskymos have won the Floyd Barber Trophy as the top high school team in the Upper Peninsula in each of the past two years, compiling a record of 17 wins and one tie.

The schedules:

Escanaba - Saturday, Aug. 30, at Marinette Catholic Central, 8 p.m.; Friday, Sept. 5, Menominee, here, 8 p.m.; Friday, Sept. 12, at Sault Ste. Marie, 8:15 p.m.; Friday, Sept. 19, at Kingsford, 8 p.m.; Friday, Sept. 26, West Iron County, here, 8 p.m.; Friday, Oct. 3, at Alpena, 8 p.m.; Friday, Oct. 10, at Marinette, 8 p.m.; Saturday, Oct. 18, at Iron Mountain, 8 p.m.; Saturday, Oct. 25, Holy Name, here, 2 p.m.

Holy Name - Saturday, Aug.

30, at Iron Mountain, 8 p.m.; Saturday, Sept. 6, Stephenson, home, 8 p.m.; Friday, Sept. 12, at Menominee, 8 p.m.; Saturday, Sept. 20, St. Ignace, here, 8 p.m.; Saturday, Sept. 27, Kingsford, here, 8 p.m.; Friday, Oct. 3, Manistique, here, 8 p.m.; Friday, Oct. 10, at West Iron County, 8 p.m.; Saturday, Oct. 18, at Munising, 2:15 p.m.; Saturday, Oct. 25, at Escanaba, 2 p.m.

Gladstone - Saturday, Aug. 30, at Gwin, 2 p.m.; Saturday, Sept. 6, Newberry, home, 2 p.m.; Saturday, Sept. 13, Ishpeming, home, 2 p.m.; Friday, Sept. 19, at Marquette, 8 p.m.; Friday, Sept. 26, at Manistique, 8 p.m.; Saturday, Oct. 4, Munising, home, 2 p.m.; Saturday, Oct. 11, Negaunee, home, 2 p.m.; Friday, Oct. 17, at Sault Ste. Marie, 8 p.m.

Manistique - Friday, Aug. 29, at Ishpeming, 8 p.m.; Friday, Sept. 5, Sault Ste. Milwaukee Open Leader Isn't Worried About Tour Anymore

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — Peter Townsend, a young Englishman who once lost his approved player card because of poor play, isn't concerned with that problem any more.

"I figure that if they pick up my card again, they're going to have to pick another 150," the dark-haired 22-year-old said Thursday after shooting a five-under-par 67 and grabbing the first round lead in the $100,000 Greater Milwaukee Open golf tournament.

"I've been playing pretty well for the last few months," Townsend said. "I'm about 98th on the money list. And there are about 250 or 300 players on the tour."

"If they pick up my card, they've got to get all the rest of them."

Wind Causes Problems

With most of the great games of the game by-passing this event to practice for next week's PGA championship, some of the lesser lights of the tour dominated the windy, first-day play.

Rookie pro John Miller was second with a 68, followed by Mike Nugent, Steve Opperman and South African Allan Henning, all at 69. At 70 were Jim Wiechers, Larry Ziegler and Bob Lunn. Of the leaders, only Lunn played in the afternoon, when the wind was at its highest.

The top attractions had their problems with the wind that gusted to 28 miles per hour.

Lombardi's Bar To Open Tourney

Lombardi's Bar of Ford River will face Eagle Electric in the Upper Peninsula girls' softball tournament at 7 p.m. today at Iron River. Eight teams are entered in the double-elimination tournament.

Timmerman Instant Hero As Pitcher, Bird Lover

DETROIT (AP) — Tom Timmerman picked up an injured bird off the pitching mound and became an instant hero Thursday night.

But the rest of the Detroit Tigers showed no compassion all night as they shelled Minnesota for 13 hits, including nine hits and five runs in the first three innings, and hung on to beat the Twins 6-4.

Six different Tigers knocked in runs, with Al Kaline and Ike Brown hitting homers.

Timmerman, 1-1, who hadn't worked more than two innings since his call-up from Detroit's

Toledo farm club, worked 4 2-3 innings in relief of Earl Wilson to pick up his first major league victory.

Twins Lead Sliced

The loss, coupled with Oakland's earlier win over Cleveland, sliced Minnesota's lead over the Athletics to 2 games in the West Division of the American League. Baltimore clobbered Kansas City 10-2 to remain 15 games up on the Tigers in the East.

Tiger pitching coach Johnny Sain said Timmerman is part of a bullpen, "that works like hell."

"They (relievers) cooperate 100 per cent," he said. "They all can pitch and as they get to work more they'll get better. They've all got a lot going for them and I've got a lot of confidence in them."

Tiger relief pitching, which has been unreliable for much of the season, has turned in some fine performances lately.

Don McMahon put out a fire in the eighth Thursday by striking out pinch hitter Chuck Manuel after the bases were loaded with two out and the score 5-4.

Helps Injured Bird

The bird incident occurred at the start of the inning when the injured creature half flew and half ran onto the infield. Timmerman picked it up softly and handed it to an usher as the 17,000 fans cheered.

Consecutive singles by Kaline, Willie Horton and Bill Freehan in the first inning gave Detroit its first run. Then, in the second, Brown hit his second ma-jeor league home run to make the score 2-0.

Detroit got three more runs off starter and loser Jim Kaat, 11-8, in the third. Kaline hit his 13th homer of the year. Then Horton, Freehan and Norm Cash singled to send home another run and Don Wert followed with an RBI double.

Rich Reese put the Twins back in the game in the fourth with a three-run homer off Wilson. It followed a single by Tony Oliva and a walk to Harmon Killebrew. After walking John Roseboro, Smith called for Timmerman.

Millie's Lilies Hold First Place

Millie's Lilies held onto first place and nine women scored 49 or better in Escanaba Country Club women's league play Wednesday.

Betty Gauthier and Gloria Hansley turned in 43, Rosemary LeMire had 44, Doris Kivela 45, Rita Sauers 48 and Lu Berglund, Harriet Fitzharris and Shirley Shomin each had 49.

In the day's event, Honey Joran was closest to the pin on the third hole and Mrs. Gauthier closest to the pin on No. 7.

The standings: Millie's Lilies 51½, Fearless Leaders 50, Ole Yellers 47, Fitz's Witches 40½, The Whips 33½, The Barons 32½, Thirsties 31, The Lanterns 30.

Series 'Crucial' Only To Twins

By The Associated Press

The two teams with the best records in the American League begin a three-game series tonight... but it's only crucial to one of them.

The Baltimore Orioles, runaway leaders by 15 games in the AL East after thrashing Kansas City 10-2 Thursday night, entertain the Minnesota Twins, whose lead over Oakland in the AL West was sliced to two games when they bowed to Detroit 6-4.

"We're still playing against the East Division," said Manager Earl Weaver, whose Orioles have a 76-34 mark, 8½ games better than Minnesota's 68-43.

"If they (the Twins) were in our division, or if there were no divisional play this year, it would be a crucial series."

"It's important that we win every game we play, but I don't look on this as a big series. As far as I'm concerned, I'm still looking at Detroit, even though we want to beat Minnesota."

Elsewhere in the AL, Oakland blanked Cleveland 3-0 and Boston rallied to edge Seattle 5-4. California, Chicago, New York and Washington were not scheduled.

The big men for the Orioles were Boog Powell, who drove in four runs with his 30th homer and a single to tie Minnesota's Harmon Killebrew for the major league RBI lead at 101, and Dave McNally, who hurled a five-hitter and belted a two-run homer. Brooks Robinson also homered for the Birds and Ellie Hendricks knocked in three runs.

It marked the 11th consecutive time the Orioles whipped the Royals after dropping the season's first meeting.

Rookie George Lauzerique pitched hitless ball for the first six innings in hurling Oakland past Cleveland. He finally allowed three hits and needed a helping hand from Roland Fingers in the eighth.

Dave Nelson's leadoff single in the seventh broke up Lauzerique's no-hit bid.

Reggie Smith's two-out, two-run single capped a three-run rally in the ninth that lifted Boston past Seattle. Starter Fred Talbot homered in the top of the ninth to give the Pilots a 4-2 lead but relievers Bob Locker and John O'Donoghue and shortstop Ray Oyler couldn't protect it.

George Scott led off the ninth with a double, his fourth hit, bringing on Locker. After one

Arthur P. Coe Of Cooks Dies

Arthur P. Coe, 78, of Cooks died Wednesday, Aug. 6 in the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital. Mr. Coe had been a Cooks resident for the past six months and formerly lived at 1745 Oakley Dr., Walled Lake, Mich. He was born July 8, 1891 in Walled Lake but lived most of his life in Farmington where he was a former township supervisor. He operated Coe's Bar on Grand River in Detroit for 25 years.

He was a life member of the Farmington Masonic Lodge. Survivors include two sons, Stanley of Cooks and Cameron of Boot Lake, Manistique; one daughter, Mrs. John (Diane) Kern, Pontiac; one brother, Lewis Coe of Plymouth; one sister, Mrs. Lena Hamilton, Dearborn Heights. Seven grandchildren and eleven great-grandchildren also survive.

Funeral services will be held Monday, Aug. 11 at one o'clock from the Thayer Funeral Home in Farmington with burial following in the New Farmington Cemetery.

Local arrangements were under the direction of the Messier-Broullier Funeral Home.

Mrs. Carlson Dies In Illinois

Mrs. August (Selma) Carlson, 89, died Wednesday, Aug. 6 in Rockford, Ill. Mrs. Carlson is a former Manistique and Gulliver resident and made her home in Rockford since the death of her husband in 1951.

She was born in Sweden on Feb. 15, 1880 and came to Manistique as a young girl.

Tentative funeral services will be held Saturday afternoon in Rockford.

Survivors include four sons: Arthur of Pullman, Wash.; Arvid, Manistique; Algott, Rockford, Ill.; Ernest, Des Plaines, Ill.; five daughters, Mrs. Walter (Ingeborg) Carlson, Mrs. Anna Vincent and Mrs. Niles (Olga) Abrahamson, all of Rockford; Mrs. Oscar (Julia) Halling, Minneapolis, Minn.; Mrs. John (Linnea) Williams, Fresno, Calif. Twenty-two grandchildren and twenty-four great-grandchildren also survive.

Hospital

Admitted to the Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital were Harry McNeil, Delores Weis and Karla Brock.

Discharged were Steven Zellar, Randy Knuth, Flora Couillard, Richard Martin, Emily Miller, Evelyn Hyland, Linda Krause, Lillie Curran and Dale Hebert.

Big Bay Board To Hear Architect

A representative of the architectural firm in charge of the new Big Bay de Noc School to be built in Garden will meet with the Bay de Noc board of education during their regular monthly meeting Monday, Aug. 11.

The board will meet at 7:30 p.m. at the Nahma School.

Briefly Told

The Community School Advisory Board will meet Tuesday, Aug. 12 for their monthly noon luncheon meeting in Room 105 of the high school. All former Advisory Board members are invited to attend this meeting. Rev. Roy Pitts, first chairman of the Community School, will be honored. Those planning to attend are asked to call the school Monday to make reservations for the luncheon.

Bert To Sing 'There She Is' Once More

By MEL HEIMER

"I am intrigued at the prospect of—what do the kids say?—cooling it," says Bert Parks, which is his chief explanation for TV viewers seeing him in early September and seldom otherwise. "I've been under the whip for 35 years and it's very pleasant, indeed, to taper off a little. Not totally. Just a little."

Early September, of course, is when NBC telecasts the "Miss America Pageant" from what has become these years rough - and - tumble Atlantic City, and, of course, none of the pageants would really be official without the brisk, dark-haired Bert, in his penguin suit, being m.c. and singing "There She Is—Miss America!"

Actually, almost no one in the radio-TV business has worked as long, hard and steadily as the Atlanta-born Parks. He was an announcer down South while still in military school, and at 18 he was in New York City as a network radio announcer, perhaps the youngest of all time.

This was just before World War II, and Bert swiftly worked his way up doing some of the big shows and making a name for himself—but then the trouble began, and he started as an infantry private and ultimately ended as a captain, operating in the China-Burma theater and winning the Bronze Star.

"It was kind of a shock, coming back to civilian life after that," he says. "I thought

I had become, well, a small somebody at least in radio, but I had to stand in line, compete in auditions and so on. I guess people forget quickly."

Even so, Parks didn't take long to start zooming again, and when he m.c'd "Stop the Music," that show accomplished a near miracle; it sent the Fred Allen program tumbling from No. 1 to No. 23 in the ratings.

He also did the Eddie Cantor and "Camel Caravan" shows, and segued gracefully into TV and radio simultaneously—what they used to call "simulcasts"—and had his own afternoon variety show.

"At one time I was doing 11 shows a week and thought it just great," Bert says, "until someone pointed out how hard I was working, and then I got a little tired suddenly."

This will be the 15th year for televising "Miss America" and Parks has been with program since the second season "and I've never even come second." It's a tough show to do, entailing his going to Atlantic City two weeks ahead of time and rehearsing endlessly.

One show in particular he won't forget. That was in '67, when a crewman asleep at the switch let a microphone outlet plug fall out—and Bert sang his legendary song to the end over a dead mike. The next Monday he guested with Johnny Carson, who told TV viewers "You've been cheated" and had Parks sing the song to them.

A thorough diplomat, Bert says the girls in the pageant are even prettier than they seem to be, and he rather suavely discusses their "talents," such as playing the musical saw or twirling a baton, by saying "All talent has trouble these days; the only experience for these girls is in school or in a play."

Married 26 years to the former Annette Liebman, Parks is the father of twins, Jeffrey and Joel, and a daughter, Annette Jr. Jeffrey is a second lieutenant with the U. S. Army in Germany, Joel is a budding actor "who really is good," and Annette is a photographer-copywriter living in London who is trying to break into radio-TV's production end.

Five months of the year Bert loafs in a house in Florida; the rest of the time he lives in Greenwich, Conn.

He likes his work and he especially likes the acting he's done—"The Music Man" on Broadway, for example—but it's doubtful he'll die in harness. "Jack Paar and I hold the record for getting out of studios after our shows faster than anyone else," Parks says.

THE EBULLIENT Mr. Parks has seen 14 Miss America's like Judith Anne Ford here, come and go, and as he says with a smile, "I've never even come in second."

New Freshness To Westerns

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A new look at the Old West will be offered by Arthur Penn, the man who directed "Bonnie and Clyde." The movie Western may never be the same.

Penn's "B&C" proved the most influential film in recent times, helping to popularize startling camera effects and bringing freshness to the ancient cops-and-robbers tale. Now he's at work on "Little Big Man," which Stuart Millar is producing for CBS's movie subsidiary, Cinema Center Films.

"I'm not trying any different techniques with this picture," said the affable, youngish-looking (he's 46) Penn. "The story is being told in a rather straightforward manner. I think it would be folly to try to improve on techniques of the Western: too many masters have already had a go at it."

The script, written by Calder Willingham from Thomas Berger's novel, is something else again. It is related by the 121-year-old Jack Crabb (Dustin Hoffman) who claims to have been the only white survivor of the Battle of Little Big Horn. His other adventures include being reared by Indians after his capture at 14, hunting buffalo with Bill Cody, witnessing the murder of Wild Bill Hickock, etc.

"I don't think of this picture as a Western," said Penn. "It's more of a picaresque tale of one man's life on the frontier, told from an ironic point of view."

"One thing this film will do is show the Indian's side in the West. There has been so much nonsense about the Indian in Westerns that it's time someone showed how he was wronged by history. Custer's Last Stand offers a good opportunity."
